28,000 MILES FLOWN BY COBHAM IN 320 HOURS

British Aviator Completes Trip From England to Australia and Return—Welcomed by Thousands Along Thames.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Alan J. Cobham, Great Britain's leading long-distance aviator, arrived here today, completing his 28,000-mile flight to Australia and return.

The plane came to rest on the water by the Parliament buildings at 2:26 p. m., while huge crowds, lining the banks of the river for a great distance, gave the flyer a tremendous ovation.

The last part of his flight started from Sartrouville, near Paris, at 11:15 a. m. After crossing the channel and passing over Rochester, whence he started June 30, the flyer took a course over the Thames at Gravesend and went up the river to Hammersmith before turning back to land at Westminster.

Thus the citizens had an opportunity of welcoming the flyer along many miles to the heart of London without crowding the alighting point.

Cobham was welcomed on the Parliament terrace by his wife, the Air Minister, Sir Samuel Hoare; the Air Marshal, Gen. Sir Sefton Branker; T. P. (Tay Pay) O'Connor, Sir Joseph and Lady Cook; Sir Charles and Lady Wakefield and other notables.

Soon after setting foot on land, he was presented by the Air Minister with the King's message offering a cordial welcome home, and adding: "I congratulate you heartily upon the successful termination of yet another historic flight."

As Cobham stepped from the tug, which brought him ashore, he shouted: "Hello everybody! It's fine to be home."

Before he could finish the sentence, his wife fell into his arms, and the crowd redoubled its cheers as the bronzed aviator smothered her and their 14-months-old boy with kisses, oblivious of the efforts of the Duke of Sutherland and the Mayor of Westminster to be the first to shake his hand.

Cobham, in a long dispatch sent from France to the Daily Mail, paid tribute to Mechanician Ward, who succeeded A. G. Elliott, who died on the outward trip, and to Mechanician Captel, who joined him in Australia for the return trip. Elliott died from a bullet wound received when an Arab tribesman fired at the plane near Basra, in Iraq.

Cobham estimated the distance covered by him during his three months' aerial journey at 28,000 miles, or more than the earth's equatorial girth. His actual flying time was only about 320 hours.

Cobham left Rochester, England, June 30. By easy stages he crossed Europe, Asia, Minor, India, the Malay Peninsula, the East Indies and arrived at Port Darwin, Australia, Aug. 5.

The aviator left Port Darwin Sept. 4, to dash homeward with the greatest possible speed. The trip was suddenly checked after a week of terrific flying by a monsoon, which forced him to descend on the coast of Burma. He reached Rangoon Sept. 15, after flying 400 miles through a rainstorm and sped on toward London. In turning homeward, Cobham stopped at Basra and visited the grave of Mechanician Elliott.

Fair and Warmer Is Forecast for
The Opening Game

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—PERSPECTS for the first game of the world's series were held out by the weather man in today's forecast of fair and warmer for Saturday. The weather is likely to be fine for Sunday's game, also.

The weather cleared today after several days of rain and overcast skies and the Yankees and Cardinals took some light practice at the stadium where the visitors had an opportunity to study the lights and shadows under the bright sun.

The last contingent of Cardinal fans going to New York for tomorrow's opening of the world's series departed on trains leaving Union Station at 9 a. m. today. Others went yesterday, and last night.

The Pennsylvania System's morning train, the American, due in New York at 10:05 a. m. tomorrow, carried a special sleeping car for the St. Louis baseball enthusiasts. Some of the passengers were Louis M. Steinberg, George N. Meisner, Harry Alon, Carl S. Lawton, John C. Roberts Jr., C. Lew Gallant and Auguste Chouteau, the last-named a former St. Louisian and a namesake of his ancestor who aided in the founding of the city. Chouteau now lives in Santa Monica, Cal.

Among those who left last evening were Phil DeC. Ball, owner of the Brown, William Nickamp and A. B. Lansing.

All the travelers said they were "fixed" for tickets for the Cardinals-Yankees games of tomorrow and Sunday. The games in St. Louis Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be Nos. 3, 4 and 5 of the series of not more than seven games.

Reduced Rates to St. Louis.
Reduced rates will be granted by all railroads running into St. Louis, on round-trip tickets from outside points for the period of the world's series. In some cases, these reduced rates represent an extension of time on round-trip tickets.

Round-trip fares from Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas points, and from the Southwest, the Southeast and Colorado points, will be one and a half fare. Special rates announced are $8.50 from Omaha and Des Moines, $7 from Kansas City, and $3 from Danville and other Central Illinois points. Excursion trains will carry these curate crowds.

Party Coming From El Paso, Tex.
With the large hotels reserved to their capacity from next Monday to Friday, reports of delegations from various parts of the Southwest continue to come in. The Post-Dispatch today got a letter from William F. McDonald, of the stationery of a hotel in the Mexican border city of El Paso, Tex. He wrote that he was bringing the "Boston Royal Rooters" here in a "big car" covered with banners, meaning presumably an automobile, and that the party would be here about Sunday.

Government officials and city police are prepared to deal with cases of unlicensed scalping of world's series tickets. In the strict meaning of the law, any sale of a single ticket at more than the established price, without a city license and a report to the Federal Collector of Internal Revenue, is a violation of the Federal and municipal laws.

Enforcement of these laws is a matter of duty with the Federal officers and police, particularly as some concerns have met all the requirements and will have a right to complain if they are not protected against unlicensed competition.

Three Firms Pay City Fee.
Three concerns paid the fee of $100 to the City License Collector yesterday and today for licenses authorizing them to sell tickets until April 30 next, at a profit of

COOLIDGE WILL GO TO WEDDING TODAY OF "BUCKY" HARRIS

Bride Is Miss Elizabeth Sutherland—Will Rogers Is Guest at White House.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President and Mrs. Coolidge will attend the wedding late today of Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Washington American League baseball team, and Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of Howard Sutherland, alien property custodian and former Senator from West Virginia.

Will Rogers, cowboy comedian, just returned from Europe, wired the President's secretary yesterday that he would be in the capital today and would like to pay his respects to the President. At the request of Mr. Coolidge, his secretary telegraphed an invitation to Rogers to stay at the White House over night.

Rogers accepted the invitation by wire but added a request to Secretary Sanders to "head me off at Philadelphia if it's a joke." It was not a joke, however, and Rogers spent last night at the White House.

FLORIDA OFFICIALS HAMPER RELIEF WORK, PAYNE SAYS

Red Cross Head Charges Governor and Realty Men With Minimizing Hurricane Loss.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Florida officials, from the Governor down, and real estate operators, were accused today by John Barton Payne, National American Red Cross Chairman, of handicapping Red Cross relief plans by minimizing losses in the Florida hurricane. The sentiments of Payne were disclosed in a telegram to C. C. Pinckney, chairman of the Richmond, Va., Red Cross chapter, which discussed the financial needs of the situation.

"The poor people who suffered are regarded as of less consequence than the hotel and tourist business," the telegram said. "The Red Cross feels bound to go forward and do the job just the same and everyone should help. Our officials on the ground report the greatest need since the San Francisco disaster, with 5000 homes totally destroyed and 18,000 families impoverished. Red Cross assistance given only on basis of actual need, not losses."

Florida Fund Passes $3,000,000.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Red Cross Florida relief fund has passed $3,000,000. In announcing the figure, Red Cross headquarters made public a report from James L. Plesier, vice chairman, who is in Florida, saying the number of families in desperate need exceed 18,000. Funds received included a $500 personal check from Ambassador of Matadala of Japan, and $850 from contributors at Memphis, Tenn., which was partly destroyed by a tornado in March, 1925.

Dr. Thomas S. Manning, notorious as the "big dope peddler," and described by a Government prosecutor as the "greatest contributor to delinquency in the history of St. Louis," was released from Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., yesterday.

The release was in accord with a mandate of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, last Aug. 7, granting him a writ of habeas corpus and reversing a conviction under the Harrison anti-narcotic act, which sent him to Leavenworth for a 10-year term in June, 1924.

CAROLYN WELLS FINED $416

Novelist Failed to Declare Dresses She Bought Abroad.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Carolyn Wells (Mrs. Howard Houghton), novelist, was fined $416 for failing to declare certain dresses in her baggage when she arrived here Wednesday on the French liner Paris.

"I just brought in a few old dresses," she explained, "which a friend told me it would not be necessary to declare. You know what women are!"

The fine was based on an appraised value of the dresses of $225, which it was estimated had a new value of $480 and had been worn.

OFFICER CONVICTED AFTER COCKTAIL PARTY DROWNED

Large Automobile Driven
by Col. A. S. Williams Plunges Into San Francisco Bay.

WIFE IDENTIFIES BODY AT MORGUE

He Was Found Guilty of Drunkenness by Court-martial as Result of Entertaining Gen. Butler.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—Col. Alexander S. Williams, in charge of recruiting for the Marine Corps in the Western district and defendant in the "cocktail courtmartial" at San Diego last April, was drowned here early today when a large closed car he was driving plunged into San Francisco bay.

Col. Williams' body was taken to the morgue, where it was identified by Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Williams said that on leaving home about 5 p. m. yesterday, her husband told her he was going to the Bohemian Club for dinner with some friends. She said he telephoned her at 9 o'clock last night that he was having a wonderful time and would not be home until early in the morning. She said when her husband was away late he usually drove home by way of the Embarcadero (water front), as it was well lighted and he was not well acquainted with the city's streets. She believes he must have lost control of the car or that his vision was obstructed by something causing the car to plunge into the bay.

Into 30 Feet of Water.
Frank Moore, a steward aboard the steamer Admiral Peary, and Joseph McFarland, a watchman at Pier 42, said they saw the car plunge from the street across the wharf and fall into 30 feet of water. Police were called and pulled up the automobile with grappling hooks.

Other cars have plunged into the bay from the Embarcadero in a similar manner and recently Hazel Selby lost her life in the same way. Col. Williams was transferred to San Francisco from San Diego last spring, after he had been convicted of drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer at a navy court-martial. The charges were made against him by Gen. Smedley D. Butler, as a result of alleged misconduct of the Colonel at a party at his home, given in honor of Gen. Butler, and at a hotel later.

Accused by Gen. Butler.
In the trial at San Diego some witnesses testified that they believed Col. Williams was ill and not intoxicated, as alleged. Gen. Butler maintained he violated no traditions as a guest in bringing the charges and that his charges were not based on what went on at the Williams home but on the Colonel's conduct later at a hotel. Butler said that cocktails were served at the party but that he did not partake of them but sat on the porch while most of the drinking was going on.

After conviction Col. Williams was reduced several points in his ranking and transferred to San Francisco May 22 last, where he was placed in charge of marine recruiting in the Western district. Butler also was transferred to San Francisco later.

Col. Williams Was in Marine Corps for 27 Years.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Col. Alexander S. Williams had a career of 27 years in the marines and had service ribbons to designate many campaigns in which he participated.

A native of New York, he joined the Marine Corps as a Second Lieutenant in 1899 and reached his permanent rank as Colonel in 1923.

He served in the Philippines in 1901-02. Later he served with the marine detachment in the Isthmus of Panama and was on duty with a marine battalion at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, before he was sent with the expeditionary forces to Cuba, in 1906.

Col. Williams took part in the occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914, and in the occupation of Haiti in 1915. He was assigned as chief of the Haitian gendarmerie in 1918. He graduated from the Naval War College at Newport, R. I., in 1922, and served for a time as an instructor there.

FIGHTING PRISONER SUBDUED BY GAS AND THEN HANGED

When Told to Get Ready for Death March, He Drives Deputy From Cell in Butte, Mont.

By the Associated Press.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 1.—Tony Vettere, convicted murderer, was hanged at the county jail here early this morning after he had been overcome with fear gas following an attack on officers who attempted to lead him to the scaffold.

Entering Vettere's cell shortly before the time set for the execution, Deputy Sheriff D. O. Robinson instructed the condemned man to prepare for the death march. Vettere seized a piece of iron pipe which he had concealed in his bed, drove the officer from the cell and followed him down the cell corridor brandishing the pipe and a knife.

The knife had been made from a large spoon. Robinson leaped through a door at one end of the corridor and another officer locked it. Confined to the corridor, Vettere shouted insults at the officers and berated the judge who had sentenced him to death. He dared anyone to attempt to take him to the scaffold.

Other deputies then brought two drums of tear gas and started spraying it into the corridor, driving Vettere to his cell, where they were forced to use the gas for 15 minutes before the prisoner dropped to the floor.

His arms and legs were secured as he lay in the cell and he was then carried to the gallows. There he revived sufficiently to renew his shouting as the trap was sprung. He was pronounced dead in six minutes.

Vettere steadfastly maintained his innocence of the shooting of Antonio Favero here last November, of which he was convicted.

The Government wireless station here picked up the following message from the New Britain at 11 o'clock:

"Will try to make Charleston, S. C., if revenue cutter arrives but am doubtful as deck plates are buckling and red hot. Fire still raging."

G. E. Williams, Another
Witness for the Defense Explains Discrepancies in His Testimony.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Complete responsibility, so far as the Attorney-General's office went, for the release of $7,000,000 of shares of the American Metal Co. was assumed by Senator Guy D. Goff, testifying in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial today.

Called as the second defense witness, he replied to questions by Max D. Steuer, counsel for H. M. Daugherty, Attorney-General in President Harding's Cabinet, that he had never taken the matter of the metal claims up with Daugherty, but had allowed them by his own authority.

"Were you in complete charge of alien property matters in Daugherty's office?" he was asked. "I was."

Did Not Refer Claim to Daugherty.
"Were you accustomed to refer such matters for final decision to Daugherty after you yourself had reached a conclusion?" "I was not."

"In the specific instance of these metal claims, did you confer with Daugherty before signing the release?" "I did not."

"Did Daugherty ever in any way discuss this matter with you or seek to influence your independent conclusion?" "He did not."

"Were you ever approached in person or by writing, in an effort to influence you, by Jesse Smith or John T. King?" "I was not."

That Is All, Senator.
Cross examination by United States District Attorney Buckner brought out that the letters Senator Goff signed in regard to the American Metal Co. shares, were dictated by Adna R. Johnson, another assistant to Daugherty.

Depended On Subordinates.
"I depended a great deal upon clerks and subordinates," Goff said. Before Goff took the stand, the Government had secured its attack on the testimony of George E. Williams.

Williams, managing director for Thomas W. Miller as Alien Property Custodian, yesterday testified he considered valid the claim of Richard Merton, German metal magnate, for $7,000,000 of impounded American Metal Co. shares. He also said Miller had had nothing to do with payment of the claim for which John T. King, Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, received "commissions" of $441,000, part of which was traced to bank and brokerage accounts of Miller and Harry M. Daugherty, Attorney-General at the time of the transaction. The defense of Miller and Daugherty are being made separately.

Williams' Testimony Attacked.
The Government attempted to break down the testimony of Williams that he had not seen Merton in April, 1921. Merton had testified Williams had told him in April, 1921, the proper way for him to file the claims.

United States Attorney Buckner questioned Williams about testimony he gave before the Wheeler-Brookhart Investigating Committee in 1924.

Williams Rand, counsel for Miller, objected to the question of Williams of testimony given before a congressional committee. He declared a statute protected Williams in this. The trial was halted while the law was studied.

Goff is a witness for Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General, who, with Miller, is charged not more than 50 cents a ticket. These are the Standard Ticket Co., 823 Washington avenue, conducted by Arthur Abrams and Peter Lippman of Philadelphia; Max Cohen of New York, whose stand is at 322 North Sixth street, and Moss & Lowenbaum Cigar Co. at Hotel Mayfair. Two other hold such licenses the year round, Charles Hartling of Hotel Jefferson, and R. J. Sidenberg Co. at the Statler.

Those obtaining city licenses said they had complied with the Federal law as to registering with the Internal Revenue Collector, preparatory to making the required reports on sales.

One of them, when asked yesterday afternoon how he expected to get tickets, replied with a shrug of the shoulders. "Well, I got into town just this morning, and already I've picked up 90 tickets."

He did not say what he had been obliged to pay for them, or how he could sell them at a profit without coming into conflict with the city ordinance.

While the scalpers have been able to get their stock in trade, not one ticket had been received up to noon today by the wholesalers' bureau established to buy and sell tickets at cost for the accommodation of merchants trading here.

Some of the wholesale houses have obtained a few tickets from employees, for sale to customers at cost, and expect to get more tickets from the same source. These, however, do not go into the general pile of tickets which it was planned to establish through the bureau.

Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals, issued a warning against counterfeit tickets, after he was told that purported box seat tickets had been offered for sale yesterday morning. No box tickets were mailed out until yesterday afternoon, he said.

In spite of the city ordinance limitation on the margin to be charged by scalpers, it was reported that scalpers were charging as high as $25 for a single ticket for one of next week's games.

PARENTS TRACE MISSING PAIR TO SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

George W. Coudy, 17, and Lela May Stubbs, 18 Reported Seen at Chatham by Restaurant Man.

Convinced by developments in the last 24 hours that their children eloped Saturday night, parents of George W. Coudy, 17 years old, and Miss Lela May Stubbs, 18, missing Granite City high school seniors, today asked that all rewards for their return again be withdrawn.

Although the young persons have not returned to Granite City, and their whereabouts, if known, have not been disclosed, they would be pressed confident that they would come home seeking forgiveness when the excitement and worry over their disappearance had died away.

The announcement was made by the boy's father, George E. Coudy, well-to-do lumber dealer, who returned last night from a 24-hour tour of Illinois cities with the girl's father, Warren Stubbs, private detectives and friends.

Pair Seen at Chatham, Ill. They visited Gillespie, Chatham and Springfield, where they were seen by a restaurant man who had seen the pair, among them a woman restaurant keeper in Chatham, who knew the girl from former visits when her grandmother lived there. She said the couple had dinner there Sunday night.

At Gillespie, an oil station attendant identified photographs of Coudy and Miss Stubbs as those of a young pair who bought oil and gasoline for a Chevrolet coupe, similar to Coudy's missing car, Sunday evening. At Springfield, garage mechanics identified the photographs as those of a pair who waited Tuesday while a Chevrolet coupe was repaired.

At Springfield the trail was lost. A canvass of hotels developed no information, and it is believed the pair drove on to some other city in northern Illinois.

Young Coudy Had Gray Scarf. The youth seen at the Springfield garage wore a gray checked scarf, which caused the father to doubt, because he had never seen his son with such an article. But on reaching home, he learned that the boy's sister had given him such a scarf last Christmas, and it could not be found today.

The search, however, will be continued quietly by the two fathers who have dismissed the private detectives they had employed. "Only said criminals will be prepared with photographs and descriptions of the pair and the missing automobile, to be mailed to all marriage license clerks of Illinois, Missouri and Indiana, in the hope of finding their children."

The air of tragedy and apprehension which pervaded the Coudy and Stubbs homes since Sunday had vanished today, although the parents declined to go into details as to what was learned on the Illinois tour. Coudy maintained it would be better to forget about the matter in order that the pair might find courage to come home with confidence that they would be welcomed, forgiven and assisted.

Since Sunday, until Coudy's announcement, a furor had existed in Granite City and its environs. Because both families were prominent and well-known, public interest rose to a high pitch, and many were the theories advanced to explain the disappearance.

No Hint of Elopement. The fact that neither student had said or done anything to intimate an impending elopement and the finding of Coudy's license plates and billfold in a Venice gutter, aroused fears of foul play.

Hundreds of volunteers, organized into posses, searched for the young pair and the missing automobile, and rewards totaling $12,000 were offered Tuesday for the capture of abductors or murderers in the event they had been kidnapped and slain. The rewards were withdrawn the next day at the request of the parents, but were again being offered yesterday, when withdrawal was asked again.

The circumstances of the license plates and billfold have not yet been explained.

AIRPLANE ENGINE GOES BAD
OVER HEADHUNTERS' JUNGLE

Quick Work by Mechanic Saves Navy Mapmakers in South American Expedition.

By the Associated Press.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 1.—Engine trouble in an airplane hundreds of miles inland above the head-hunting tribes in the jungles of Colombia was among the experiences of United States Navy men this summer in obtaining data for United States hydrographic service charts. It was learned today from nine members of the party who returned aboard the U. S. S. Vega.

Quick work by a mechanic kept the engine going until the pilot could make his base with two passengers. Two months previous to this, said Lieut. L. A. Pope, aerial photographer, two engineers were lost in this unexplored territory and were believed to have been captured by head-hunters. Two years ago, he added, a party of eight had been captured and killed.

The navy mapmakers left Philadelphia June 5. Land and aerial surveys were made in the Gulf of Venezuela from a three-passenger amphibian plane.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Commander Richard E. Byrd plans to start next Thursday on a 7,000-mile tour of the United States in the big Fokker airplane in which he flew across the North Pole.

The big plane is now being reconditioned in Hahnbrouck Heights, N. J. The tour, which will start from Washington, will be one of the longest ever undertaken by airplane in this country. It will be in the interest of commercial aviation.

Byrd will be accompanied by Floyd Bennett, who accompanied him in the Polar flight, and Lieut. Brent Balchen, formerly of the Norwegian navy. The three will alternate as pilots.

The flight is sponsored by the Guggenheim Foundation and the Department of Commerce. The first stop will be in New York City. Thence the plane will go to Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Salt Lake City and the Pacific coast.

The return will be by way of Denver and the southern route up the Atlantic coast. It is expected to require about six weeks.

MEXICO PAYS BOND INTEREST

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—G. Prieto, acting financial agent of the Mexican Government in the United States, announces that the September allotment of funds to be applied on the second half yearly interest payments on bonds of the Republic of Mexico has been made.

The funds have been placed at the disposal of the International Committee of bankers.

Prieto said the economic boycott, growing out of the church controversy in Mexico, "has proved an utter failure either in disrupting the financial and industrial fabric of Mexico or in compelling the Government to disobey the sovereign laws of the Mexican people."

HOW STEEL MERGER WILL AFFECT AMERICA

Pittsburg Manufacturers Expect Keener Competition in Far East and South America.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 1.—The new European steel combination might possibly bring keener competition for American steel products in Latin America and the Far East, spokesmen for leading manufacturers in the Pittsburg district said today.

Low cost of labor and cheaper transportation rates might affect the combine a better opportunity in South America, Japan, China and the Philippines, it was said.

The general opinion in the Pittsburg steel circles is that the combine would have slight effect upon the American industry for it was pointed out there was little export demand. During the war, it was said, the capacity of American mills was enlarged tremendously. At the close of the conflict the American manufacturers continued this heavy production to meet domestic demands and trade growing from new uses for steel.

Most steel exports today go to Latin America and the Far East while a very small amount reaches Europe, manufacturers said.

Annual Output to Range From 26,000,000 to 30,000,000 Tons.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 1.—According to the German Minister of Economy, Herr Curtius, the steel consortium signed in Brussels by French, German, Belgian, Luxembourg and Saar Valley interests, marks a return to common sense in economic matters.

The annual output of the combine will range from 26,000,000 to 30,000,000 tons.

Each country is to deposit $1 in a common fund for each ton manufactured within its allotted percentage. For each excess ton produced the producing country must pay $4 into the fund, while a refund of $2 per ton will be paid to any country falling in any one year to produce its allotted percentage.

Theoretically, sale prices will remain optional with each country, but it is hoped to fix a price as to avoid keen competition.

British steel interests declined to enter the project, and as far as is known here, steel producers in the United States were not invited to join.

Theoretically the monthly output will be: Germany, 925,000 tons; France, 670,000; Luxembourg, 310,000; the Sarre, 220,000; Belgium, 291,000.

BOOKMAKER LOSES $4000 IN HOLDUP

Operator of 'The Puff' Robbed by Three Youths—Others Fear to Notify Police.

By the Associated Press.

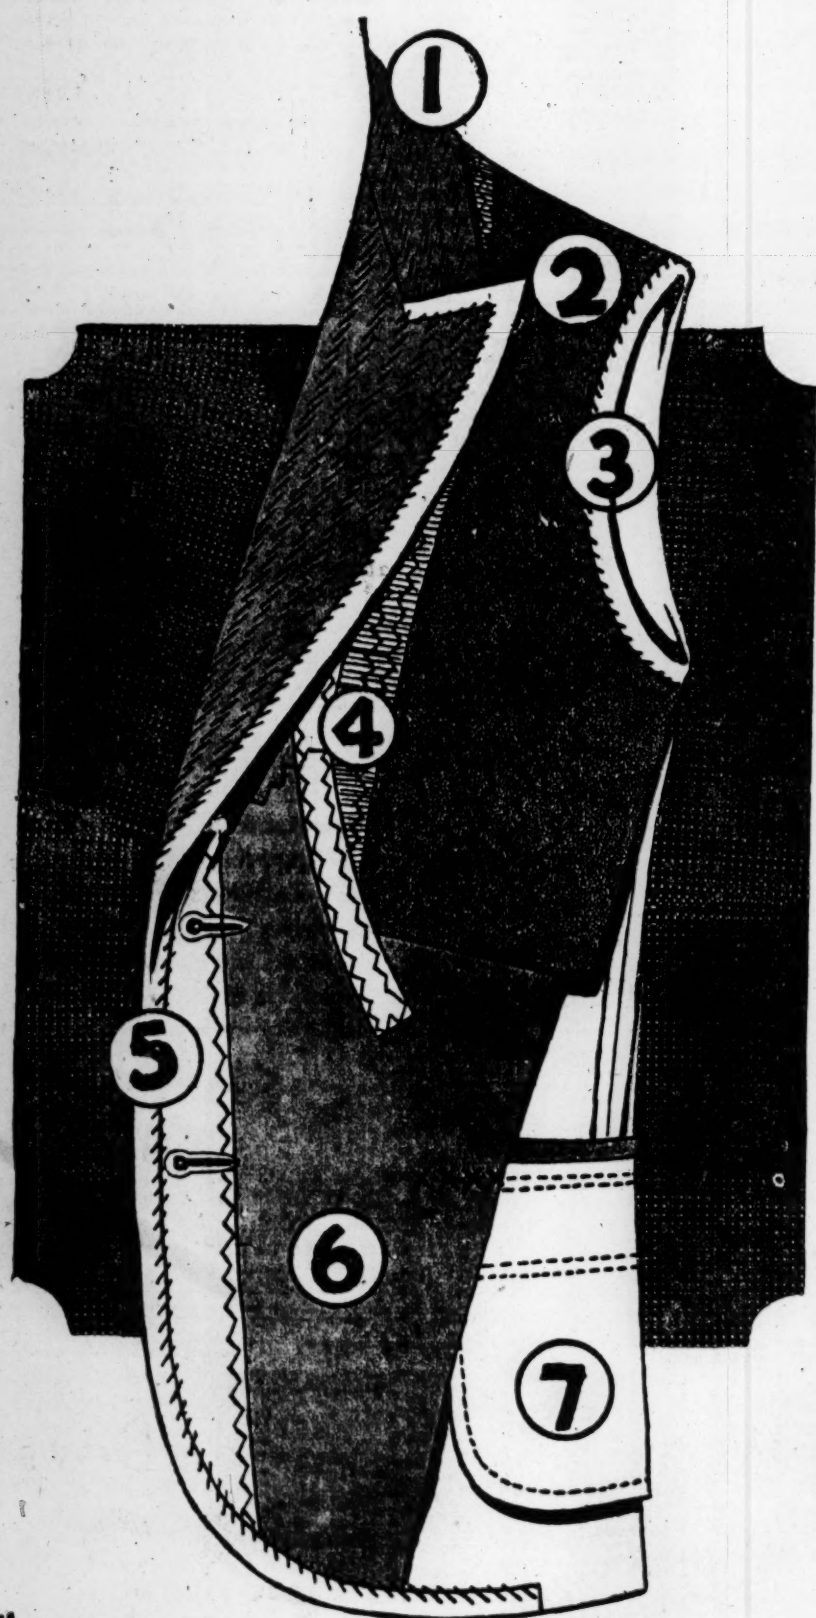

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—A bookmaker who has been visited officially several times by the police gambling squad, it was admitted today that three armed young men took all but 26 cents of the cash in the place at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The amount taken was not revealed, but reports of the loss place it at $4000.

More than $100 in unpaid bets left overnight in the cash drawer of a small bookmaker on Olive street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, was taken by prowlers who managed to open the back door. Other similar losses are hushed up to prevent too close scrutiny of their reasons for having large amounts of cash on hand.

Mrs. Mayme Keehn Sues Husband, Proprietor of Four Groceries and Meat Markets.

Suit for separate maintenance and a partnership interest in her husband's property was filed yesterday by Mrs. Mayme Keehn of 1708 A South Vandeventer avenue against Frank Keehn, proprietor of four groceries and meat markets.

They were married in June, 1917, since which time, according to her petition, Mrs. Keehn advanced $4000 to her husband, which he told her he was investing for her in his business, but he failed to convey any title to her. His places of business are at 2114 Cherokee street, 1238 South Broadway, 2826 Market street and 1801 Sidney street, and worth $60,000, with an income of $1000 a month, the suit avers. Mrs. Keehn says she has been obliged to live in a small and modest apartment at the Vandeventer avenue address without any substantial contribution from him since Aug. 11. Keehn could not be reached.

HUSBAND FREES WIFE IMPRISONED FOR DEBT

Harry Canis Tires of Looking After Children and Store in East St. Louis.

Harry Canis got his wife out of jail yesterday. He said to her, "Either, you come home and stop this foolishness." It was all right to be stubborn and stand up for your rights, but not while you had to stay in jail, he told her. Not while a husband was at home looking after three children, a combination grocery store and shoe store, and a cat.

Mrs. Canis, who had been in jail at Belleville for 36 days of a six months' sentence under the old Illinois debtor's law, put on her hat, and her husband paid the debt, $211.77. He paid it to Mrs. Eva Hurley of 717 Trendley avenue, East St. Louis, once Mrs. Canis' dearest friend.

"This is not my doing, Harry," Mrs. Canis told him. "If I had my way I'd stay in jail the full six months rather than pay that hateful thing a penny. I'm just as hard as she is."

Mrs. Canis a Clerk Once More. This morning Mrs. Canis was busy waiting on customers at their store, 1100 Tudor avenue, East St. Louis. The three Canis children, two boys, 12 and 13, and a girl, 8, had the first regular breakfast in 36 days. The cat was happy. And the happiest was husband Harry.

"I had to keep David, he's the oldest boy, home from school to watch the store," he explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I had nobody to leave here while I went to market and delivered my groceries. My wife had no business being in jail while my busiest season is on. There's a lot of trade to take care of. I wanted her home."

The troubles of Mrs. Canis and Mrs. Hurley began when the Hurleys were tenants of the Canises. Mrs. Hurley was scratched by Mrs. Canis in a fight, sued for malicious assault and got $200 damages. But Mrs. Canis wouldn't pay, so Mrs. Hurley had her put in jail under the debtors' law.

The financial arrangements necessary to get Mrs. Canis out of jail were somewhat involved. She had served 36 days and Mrs. Hurley had paid her board at the rate of $1 a day, as she was required to do under the law. The State allowed Mrs. Canis $1.50 a day against the judgment for the time she spent in jail. But State's Attorney Lindauer ruled that while Mrs. Canis might deduct $4 from the judgment when her husband settled, she must pay Mrs. Hurley the $36 her enemy had paid as her board. The final settlement, counting court costs and with proper deductions, was $211.77.

Sewed and Read in Jail. "I liked it in jail," Mrs. Canis said. "I had my board paid, so I didn't have to do any work. I just sewed or read books. It was real restful compared to taking care of three children, a combination grocery and shoe store, a husband and a cat. I'd have stayed the whole six months, but I wanted little David to go to school and I wanted to be with my children. So I let Harry pay my way out. Not that I'd have ever paid it. Certainly not. Pay Mrs. Hurley? She'd never have got a cent from me."

Mrs. Hurley, through her attorney, Mrs. Blanche Davis of East St. Louis, announced that had Canis refused to settle the judgment Mrs. Hurley would have kept Mrs. Canis in jail the full six months.

CALLS ON COTTON BELT GOVERNORS TO AID FARMERS

Mississippi Executive Proposes Conference to Devise Means of Getting Surplus Crop Off Market

By the Associated Press.
JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 1.—With Mississippi gins closing until better prices can be obtained for cotton, and farmers rushing the picking that they may market their crop before prices drop further, Gov. Whitfield today called upon Governors of other cotton producing States to aid the farmer.

"The rapid decline of the price of cotton within the last five weeks has brought the price below the cost of production," the Governor said in a letter to other Southern executives, urging them to appoint delegates to discuss plans for alleviating the situation.

Upon receipt of replies signifying their agreement to his proposal, Gov. Whitfield will call a conference.

The Governor suggested the formation of pools in every Southern state with sufficient capital to take the surplus off the current market. With the formation of such pools, the Governor would plan definitely for the regulation of the acreage of the next crop. Governmental agencies and growers' associations already in existence would be urged to co-operate in the movement.

Gov. Whitfield's letter followed reports from various points in Mississippi that cotton gins were closing as a result of anonymous messages ordering that operations be ceased until better prices are paid for cotton. The messages are believed to have come from despondent farmers.

From some sections of the State have come stories of cotton picking parties in moonlight, with farmers endeavoring to speed up the marketing of their crop before prices fall farther.

The cotton states of the South have lost hundreds of millions of dollars in the last five weeks of depressed prices, the Governor's letter said.

Georgia Governor to Send Delegates to Conference.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 1.—Gov. Clifford Walker has endorsed the proposal of Gov. Whitfield of Mississippi for the formation of pools to assist cotton growers and will send delegates to the proposed conference.

TELLS OF ECONOMY PLANNED BY KATY-COTTON BELT MERGER

Charles E. Johnston of Kansas City Southern Outlines Improvements at I. C. C. Hearing.

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 1.—Expected economies from the proposed joint control of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, the Kansas City Southern, and the Cotton Belt railroads were detailed by witnesses at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here on the application to merge these roads.

Charles E. Johnston of Kansas City, vice president and general manager of the Kansas City Southern, told how, in his opinion, the three roads could consolidate some of their terminals, standardize their materials, save money by buying in large volume, and, above all, reduce grades by an interchange of trackage.

The Southwest, he said, is entitled to a large railroad system capable of meeting its needs, and predicted that if these three roads were permitted to combine as requested in a stock control arrangement, that the new system would dominate the territory.

The three lines separately, perhaps, could not survive, with the same financial and competitive strength, should they be compelled to face alone the consolidation of neighboring lines, he averred. He estimated it would cost $101,112,407 to reduce the main line grades of the three roads to a maximum of 0.5 per cent. A great portion of this expense would be saved under joint control by the use of the low-grade stretches of each line, he said.

He mentioned economies which he said could be effected in joint use of terminals at Kansas City, where the M-K-T, at present uses the terminals of the St. Louis & San Francisco main line. This, he said, places the M-K-T at a disadvantage, but the Kansas City Southern's position is just the reverse and by combining with the latter road, the Katy could have the advantage of road terminals of its own.

SKYSCRAPER HEIGHTS CHANGE ALMOST DAILY

Builders Now Look to Some Other Feature Which Will Distinguish Structures.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—With the skyscrapers of each year being lost in the shadows of the taller ones erected in the next, the designer who wishes to plan a distinctive building no longer can rely upon superior height alone.

Most of the cities of the United States are seeing their "tallest buildings" eclipsed, one after the other, as the result of a construction trend which has been gaining momentum for several years.

In the past, especially in the early part of the century, the erection of a building taller than any of its neighbors, or taller than any other in the same town, was a guarantee that it would stand out prominently, for a considerable time.

In New York City, several buildings, successively acquiring the title of "tallest," held it long enough to gain national reputation. The American Surety Building, one of the first downtown skyscrapers, was followed by the Flatiron Building, and then by the Singer Building. The title of "world's tallest" was then captured by the Woolworth, which held it unchallenged until the planning of the 81 stories of the new Book Tower in Detroit.

Most American cities today are witnessing similar "processes of overtopping." In Cleveland, the new Union Terminal Tower will rise 711 feet, considerably higher than the previously tallest buildings, except the Woolworth Building.

The peak of the Brooklyn skyline was for years at 23 stories, the height of the Chamber of Commerce Building. Suddenly it went to 28 stories with the Court Rem-sen Building, and scarcely was this completed when work was begun on a new 30-story structure, and another which is to go 35 stories, all within a few blocks of one another. In nearly every section of New York City, buildings which previously stood out as isolated skyscrapers, are today surrounded by taller ones, like groves of trees.

When this overtopping occurs, a structure can still hold its rank as one of the "leading buildings" through distinctive features other than height. Architects now plan to insure permanent prestige for the buildings they design by modern floor plans and lighting effects, exteriors made attractive by skillful use of terra cotta and other decorative materials, efficient elevator facilities, and generally convenient equipment throughout.

Care is also being taken to avoid the buildings' ever assuming an appearance of "oldness" by the use in many cases of facing materials which can be washed with soap and water.

STUDENTS PLAN STATE-WIDE

CHILD GORED BY BUFFALO Dog Saves Girl from Further Injury at Kirksville.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 1.—
Mildred Lee Lyons, 2 years old, was gored by a buffalo, 200 lbs., a wound to her hip, but was saved from further injury by a dog which jumped at the buffalo and distracted its attention.

The buffalo then roamed the streets and chased men and women into houses until a group of cowboys, stranded here with the buffalo since the rodeo of Sept. 11, had a genuine buffalo round-up and corralled the animal in the lot where he belonged.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Acid Fumes Overcome 30 Firemen.

LAST DAUGHTER BURIED BESIDE "AUNT MARY"

Riley Wrote Poem About Mother of Mrs. Louisa Viola Hockett.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MACON, Mo., Oct. 1. — Mrs. Louisa Viola Hockett, who died this week at College Mound, was the youngest daughter and last child of "Aunt Mary," known throughout the nation because of James Whitcomb Riley's poem. Mrs. Hockett was 81 years old.

Mrs. Hockett was the youngest of eight children. Her father was Caleb Coggeshall of Gideon County, North Carolina. He was a direct descendant of William the Conqueror. The maiden name of Mrs. Hockett's mother was Mary Marine. She was born in North Carolina. The poem that Riley wrote about her was titled, "Out to Old Aunt Mary's." One stanza of it was as follows:

"... Aunt Mary fell asleep this morning, whispering 'Tell the boys to come!' And all is well out to Old Aunt Mary's."

The body of Mrs. Hockett was laid away in the little cemetery at College Mound by the side of her husband and her mother.

Mrs. C. C. Winkler, daughter of Mrs. Hockett, has a tender recollection of her grandmother, "Old Aunt Mary."

"Every one who knew my grandmother felt toward her the truth of Mr. Riley's tenderly expressed verses," she said. "You couldn't help but love her. I was a girl when she died, her death occurring at our home in College Mound."

"Old Aunt Mary was a little mite of a woman, never weighing over 100 pounds, but every pound was good nature and a willingness to help others. She was a Quaker and brought with her to our house her Quaker bonnet. We have it yet. She talked a great deal about Mr. Riley, and what a good 'boy' he was. She was just the sort of person he liked to write about—good, honest old country folks. Aunt Mary was always busy; she knit yards and yards of lace for the children. Her eyes were blue and she had the sweetest face you ever saw—it was sweet and smiling to the last. My little girl was named for her."

Aunt Mary, soon after the death of her husband, Maj. Coggeshall, left Indiana for Missouri, and made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Louisa Hockett, at College Mound, until Aunt Mary's death there, March 1, 1898. She lived to be 87. Her grave in the College Mound Cemetery is marked by a small stone bearing the name, "Mary Coggeshall." On learning of her death Riley wrote his poem about her.

58,889 SLAVES IN NEPAL SET FREE WITHIN YEAR

Government Expended $1,250,000 in Abolition Work; 1200 Owners Refused Compensation.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
ALLAHABAD, Oct. 1.—It is officially announced from Nepal that the last trace of slavery has disappeared from the country. Altogether, 58,889 slaves have been emancipated at cost to the Nepal Government of about $1,250,000.

Preparatory laws were passed some time ago, and the work of emancipating the slaves began last year. Antislavery feeling was aroused by the appeal of the Maharajah in 1924, and 1200 out of nearly 16,000 owners volunteered to release their slaves without compensation.

In the fight for abolition the Maharajah of Nepal, Sir Chandra Shumshere Jung, has not stinted his own wealth. He has given large sums to the cause of abolition. One of his appeals for human freedom in his state contained the words: "The curse of heaven rests on a trade which is overlaid with the leaden tears of parents and children."

MISSOURI DAY CELEBRATION TO LAST ALL NEXT WEEK

Former Gov. Gardner to Open Program With Radio Address Monday Morning.
The Missouri day celebration in St. Louis will run through all of next week under plans by the St. Louis program committee, headed by Mrs. J. E. Allen, chairman, and Mayor Miller, honorary chairman. Under Section 8852 of the Missouri code "the first Monday of October" is designated as "Missouri Day," and the St. Louis observance will begin at 8:30 p. m. Monday when former Gov. Gardner will broadcast an address over Station KMOX.

Various clubs will hold Missouri day programs during the week and the public schools have arranged special programs with essay contests in Missouri history.

The Woman's Chamber of Commerce will hold a Missouri Day luncheon Thursday at the Missouri Hotel. At the public library books dealing with Missouri history and progress will be displayed in special racks and available to readers.

The State Missouri Day Celebration Committee, with headquarters at Sedalia, has been campaigning to make the celebration state-wide.

Hotels Here Flooded With Reservations

Notwithstanding the fact that the larger hotels are declining further room reservations for next week from out-of-town people, the flow of requests is increasing rather than diminishing.

The Prufrock-Litten Furniture Co., Fourth and St. Charles Streets, advise patrons to reserve furniture now, during the SALE OF SAMPLE SUITES, for later delivery.

Saturday is the last day of this sale—an ideal day to investigate these "specials" in sample suites of furniture at greatly reduced prices.

PAID TO VANISH, SAYS HALL-MILLS WITNESS

Story of Trooper Called More Important Than "Pig Woman's."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—State Senator Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills murder case, disclosed last night that in a sworn statement which H. L. Dickman, former New Jersey State trooper, made to a special investigator at Governor's Island, Wednesday, is the admission by Dickman that he was paid a large sum of money to leave New Jersey, after he had worked alone on the case several months, four years ago.

The grand jury investigation four years ago ended in November, 1922. No indictments were returned. Dickman continued to work alone on the mystery until April, 1923. He mysteriously disappeared about that time, leaving two months' salary checks unclaimed. He is alleged to have boasted that he had solved the Hall-Mills murder mystery, and has been popularly credited with knowing more about the case than anyone else who worked on it four years ago.

Traced to Military Prison. He was traced a few weeks ago to a military prison in California and at the request of Gov. Moore of New Jersey, the War Department transferred him to Governor's Island for questioning by the New Jersey authorities.

In addition to confirming reports that he was paid to vanish, Dickman's statement, according to Simpson, contains new information of such a character that, if it stands the test of checking up, it makes Dickman a much more important figure in the case than Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman."

According to Simpson, Dickman introduces names that have not been mentioned hitherto in the case. Some of these are persons he connects with "the payment of a sum of money." He also is reported to have given the names of witnesses who were at the scene of the crime.

Swears to Affidavit. "The man, who is handling the Dickman end of it, and who went to San Francisco to interview Dickman, but found him inaccessible there, went to Governor's Island yesterday, and interviewed Dickman from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.," Simpson announced last night.

"He went over the whole situation and reduced it to notes. He had Dickman O. K. the notes. The investigator then reduced the notes to affidavit form and took the affidavit to Dickman this morning. After making a few changes Dickman swore to it."

"Because of the people involved in the affidavit, I don't think I want to make it public. I will say, however, that Dickman swore that he was the last man on the Hall-Mills case and was paid a large sum of money to leave New Jersey. He gave corroborative detail which is now being checked up so that his statement does not stand alone."

"I am willing to do what I can for Dickman and I speak for the Governor when I say that no harm will come to him by reason of his service to the administration of justice in this State."

"If the police think Dickman's affidavit, which consists, as I recall it, of six or seven pages, should be made public, they will make it public. My own opinion, however, is that it should be reserved for open court with Dickman himself telling the story on the stand."

MORE COLOR IN THE KITCHEN
Spanish Influence Marked in English Households.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Since Lady Carisbrooke returned from a visit to her brother-in-law, King Alfonso of Spain, many of her English acquaintances have had their kitchens changed from the dull Victorian rooms of years standing into gay Spanish color.

Scarlet, black and white is the color scheme, with gay pottery and bright tiled recesses, colors picked out on the beams, and tiled floors that are easy to keep clean. Some of the newer country houses are being built in the Spanish style.

SKIN TROUBLE COVERS BODY

At last finds treatment which cleared it away in few days

Badger, Minn., March 1:—"A while ago I was troubled with a skin disease, a mild case of itch, which was very distressing. It began on my leg and was most aggravating; the more I scratched it the more it itched. Finally a number of tiny pimples formed and soon spread all over my body. It became so bad that I did not know what to do about it and was going to consult a physician when a friend of mine suggested that I try Resinol Ointment. I bought a jar the next day and was delighted with the relief I obtained after the first application. A few more treatments and the itch was entirely gone. I have also used Resinol Soap and Ointment for blackheads and pimples and it helped wonderfully. I cannot praise Resinol enough for all the good it has done me." (Signed) Celia Stoffel, Star Route.

PADEREWSKI SITS ON HAT BELONGING TO MISSOURI EDITOR

Noted Pianist Crushes Top Piece of Omar D. Gray of Sturgeon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, Mo., Oct. 1.—The next time Ignacy Paderewski, noted Polish pianist, comes to America, he will have to pay Omar D. Gray, editor of the Sturgeon Leader, a new hat to replace the one he ruined for the Missouriian in Geneva, Switzerland, when he sat down on it.

Gray, according to a letter to Moberly friends, was attending the sessions of the League of Nations when the famous musician came into the gallery and took a seat beside him, sitting on the editor's new and expensive hat.

Gray, accompanied by Dean Walter Williams of the Missouri School of Journalism is attending the sessions of the World Press Congress in Geneva. At the present time he and Dean Williams are in Italy on a 200-mile motor trip.

Dean Williams will return to the United States on the S. S. Cammania of the Cunard Line, sailing from Southampton, England, Oct. 16.

CINCINNATI FRUIT INTERESTS WIN POINT IN U. S. FIGHT

Court Rules They Have Right to Maintain Petition for Injunction Against Jardine.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Cincinnati fruit interests won a skirmish yesterday in their fight to prevent Secretary Jardine from putting into effect his plan for Federal cooperation in standardizing methods in the fruit and vegetable industry.

The supreme court of the District of Columbia ruled that the S. A. Gerrard Co. and Leonard, Crossett and Riley, of Cincinnati, have sufficient interest in the matter to entitle them to maintain a petition for an injunction and ordered Secretary Jardine to show cause why the injunction should not be issued.

The fruit companies said the plan, which would set up a voluntary organization in the trade and which would call for arbitration of disputes by the Department of Agriculture on request, was not sanctioned by law. They also asserted Congress specifically had refused to pass a bill containing such authority.

DECLARES DRY LAW MAKES BOOTLEGGERS POPULAR

New Jersey Attorney-General Advocates Repeal of Volstead Act by Congress.

Edward L. Katzenbach, Attorney-General of New Jersey, in St. Louis yesterday, on his way to Kansas City to address the annual meeting of the Missouri Bar Association, criticized the Volstead act, declaring it had made the average bootlegger a popular citizen. He asserted that if the act is not repealed, Congress will have to place an irrational construction on the word intoxication.

While here Katzenbach was the guest of Edward J. White, vice president and general solicitor of the Missouri Pacific Railroad. In Kansas City he will discuss national prohibition and state's rights.

RHEIMS AGAIN IS BEAUTIFUL

City Has Put Up 15,000 Modern Buildings Since the War.

RHEIMS, Sept. 29.—This city, one of the most beautiful in Europe before it was shot to pieces by German artillery, has been rebuilt. A new city has arisen, which is again said to be the most beautiful in France.

The war left only six dwellings of the 16,884 buildings of the old city undamaged. There are now 15,000 new buildings, all of modern construction. There is not a shop front now that is not faced with marble, nor an entrance hall in a home that has not a mosaic floor.

The new streets are broad and clean. The new hotels and restaurants are equal to the best in France. All the shops look as if they would have been built for an exhibition. Customers are swamped with luxuries, but prices are quite reasonable. The famous Cathedral is still in ruins.

CHINESE DYING OF HUNGER

Civilians of Wu Chang Victims of Military Siege.

HANKOW, China, Oct. 1.—The civilian population of Wu Chang across the Yangtze river from here is entirely without food and hundreds are reported to be dying. Colder weather is increasing the suffering. There is no coal and no firewood and the meager remaining food supply is held entirely by the military.

The condition is the result of the siege laid to the city by the "red" Cantonese forces to compel surrender of the northern troops holding it. Peace negotiations at Wu Chang have been broken off entirely, but through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce both the contending factions have agreed to permit removal of women and children to Hankow.

Youth, 18, Sentenced to Hang.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—After only 20 minutes of deliberation, a jury convicted Richard Evans, 19 years old, of murder, and fixed the punishment at death. It was the third death verdict here within 10 days. Oct. 22 was set as the day of the hanging. Evans shot and killed Edward Finnegan, a policeman.

THINKS 'YANKEE DOODLE' SPRANG FROM THE DUTCH
Student of Languages Says Words of the Song Came From "Yonk Heer Doodle."

By the Associated Press.
CHEROKEE, Ia., Oct. 1.—W. I. Endicott, student of archaeology and of languages, believes that "Yankee Doodle" originated in the Netherlands. He says the words of the song came from "Yonk Heer Doodle," an old Dutch air.

"Yonk Heer Doodle," Endicott states, "was intended as a contribution to annoy the yonk heers or young lords. In America it is supposed to have been first rendered by a British drum corps, largely to give the American New Amsterdam contingent a military rating founded on ridicule. The name "Yankee" is American-Indian, a corruption of "Yonk Heer" by the aborigines who inhabited the vicinity of New Amsterdam.

"The Indians, accustomed to hearing the Dutch citizens greet each other as 'Yonk Heer' arrived at the deduction that all white men were 'Yonk Heer.' 'Yankee' was the best they could make of it."

Woman Dances at 87.
By the Associated Press.
OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 1.—Although she finds it difficult to obtain dancing partners her own age, Mrs. Mary T. Edmundson, 87, lives up to her belief that "a dance a day keeps the doctor away." For the last two years Mrs. Edmundson has been attending classes at a local ballroom to solve the partner problem. She says she has danced for 40 years, and while the waltz and old-fashioned three-steps are her favorites, she does fox trot. She does not like the Charleston.

HOW THE TURKS HAVE TRANSFORMED ANGORA

Population of Backward Town Has Grown to 100,000 Since 1920.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Turkey, Aug. 23.—Six years have elapsed since the nationalistic and republican government of Mustapha Kemal Pasha transferred the capital of Turkey from Constantinople to Angora.

The nationalists distrusted the former seat of the Sultans. They had driven out the Greeks from Asia Minor and they did not want to have anything to do with Constantinople, within whose walls were European diplomats as well as Turks of the older school who were hostile to the new regime. Thus it came about that the nationalists or Kemalists, as they are now called, decided to isolate themselves in Anatolia. A glance at the map will show that they have chosen a place which besides being in the center of Asiatic Turkey, is 150 miles distant from the nearest port on the Black Sea, and is more or less immune from attack by any of Turkey's neighbors.

A market town of little importance, Angora was not fitted to be a capital. Housing accommodation was scarce, railway communications were bad and sanitary conditions were unhealthy. But once the Kemalists decided to make Angora the capital they showed great activity and industry in building and generally endeavoring to make the place habitable.

10,000 Officials: No Houses.
The first thing to be done was to house the 10,000 Government officials and the army headquarters. Tents and nissen huts still shelter the soldiers but the ministries have been allotted better quarters. Building was an expensive operation. Although plenty of stone is to be found around Angora, bricks, mortar, plaster and other necessary materials had to be brought from Constantinople and other centers.

The Government voted large appropriations and work was started. A Parliament house, adorned with picturesque blue frescoes and mosaics, was the first public building to be completed. Then came the postoffice, followed by a large hotel, which is, unfortunately, not yet open. Offices, co-operative stores, hospitals and private houses are being built.

Angora has begun to assume the aspect of a civilized town. But skilled labor was lacking, and the authorities found that, in this matter at least, nationalism would be to no avail. An appeal was made to foreigners to assist in the development of the new capital and a ready response was forthcoming. Anglo-Saxons did not find the conditions sufficiently attractive, but Germans, Hungarians, Italians and Bulgarians flocked in thousands to Anatolia.

Foreigners Camp Out.
Engineers, architects and workmen were the three categories of foreigners most needed, and even today the supply is not equal to the demand. Good wages are being paid, but the emigrants have had to build their own habitations, arrange for their cooking, establish their hospitals—in a word, fend for themselves. The Turks resented their presence, but recognized they were a necessity.

Concurrently with building measures were taken to improve communications with the outside world. A concession was granted to the French for the installation of a powerful wireless station, while the existing telegraph facilities with Constantinople were accelerated and rendered tolerably efficient. A local automatic telephone system was installed, and taxicabs and motor lorries appeared on the streets. The latter were repaired, but are still in a poor condition and are very dusty in summer.

The railway line to Constantinople consists of a single track and despite improvements to the permanent way the fastest train does not average more than 20 miles an hour. Efforts have been made to develop commercial and passenger air routes and French and German aircraft have been purchased. Disputes have, however, arisen with the foreign air combines and there is no regular air service between Angora and Europe.

Big Gain in Population.
The sanitary problem was perhaps the most difficult. Angora had always been renowned for its virulent mosquitoes and its malarial climate. An investigation by doctors revealed the necessity of a proper drainage system. The Rockefeller trust interested itself in the matter and offered to establish and equip clinics where experienced medical men would make a thorough study of the whole question. Negotiations have been going on for some time, but not results have been achieved and in consequence Angora remains an unhealthy area. Many deaths have occurred among the foreign workmen.

In spite of the shortage of houses, the sickness and many other drawbacks, Angora has managed to thrive and the population has increased from 20,000 in 1920 to over 100,000 in 1926. Shops have been opened, hotels and restaurants have been improvised, and even jazz bands have appeared on the scene. Gradually the place has come to look more like a capital and less like a country village.

Watches Slow Up in London.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 1.—American watches have a tendency to slow up here. Americans are forced to adjust their watches every two or three days. This is said to be due to the change of atmosphere. At the Savoy Hotel the clock in the front vestibule is kept three minutes ahead of the Greenwich time to counteract the effects of the foreign watches on appointments, boat trains and departure for the theater.

TWO OFFICIALS OUSTED AT SARATOGA SPRINGS

Gov. Smith Ousts Prosecutor and Sheriff for Conniving at Gambling.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Gov. Smith has removed from office District Attorney Charles B. Andrus and Sheriff Arthur G. Wilnot of Saratoga County, on recommendations of Supreme Court Justice Heffernan, who recently held hearings on charges of neglect of duty filed against the two officials for permitting gambling. Dr. Arthur G. Leonard, Commissioner of Public Safety of Saratoga Springs, the third man named in the charges, resigned.

The charges were made to Gov. Smith in July by Peter A. Finlay, president of the Saratoga Springs Taxpayers' Association.

Justice Heffernan found that gambling had been conducted openly and without hindrance in Saratoga Springs and was going on even "in the shadow of the courthouse" while the hearings were under way.

The District Attorney and the Sheriff, in their formal replies, declared that they failed to answer the charges during the hearing because no evidence had been offered showing that they knew gambling was going on. It was not their duty, but the duty of the Saratoga Springs police, to get evidence on the gamblers, they said. Neither Andrus nor Wilnot took the stand during the hearings.

ST. LOUIS-CHICAGO MAIL

PLANE PILOT FORCED TO LAND
C. E. Lindbergh, Down Second Time in Three Weeks, Saves Machine From Serious Damage.

When his motor failed at dusk yesterday as he sent his St. Louis-Chicago mail plane through fog and rain at an altitude of only 150 feet and speed of 115 miles an hour, Charles E. Lindbergh, chief pilot of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, successfully set the ship down in a field. He took off again today after repairs.

Lindbergh was six miles north of Springfield, Ill., on his northward trip with five sacks of mail when his motor suddenly lost speed and began to idle. Flying as low as he could to see the ground through the light fog, Lindbergh was forced to set the plane down at once. He landed in a clover field. His wheels sank into the soft ground but so skillfully had he made the landing that the plane did not nose over. The mail was rushed back to Springfield and sent north by train.

The landing was Lindbergh's second recent narrow escape. Three weeks ago he jumped in a parachute from a mail plane as its engine died while he was trying to find his way through darkness and fog to a landing field. Lindbergh's running mate, Philip R. Love, who left Chicago at noon yesterday, was turned back by the fog and the mail was sent in by train.

NEW LIQUOR SMUGGLING

AGREEMENT IN EFFECT
Made So by Exchange of Notes by British and American Governments.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The new liquor smuggling agreement with Great Britain, negotiated at the time of Assistant Secretary Andrews' visit to London last summer, has been declared effective as of Sept. 29.

The agreement was made operative through an exchange of notes between the Washington and London Governments.

While the text of the agreement is held in confidence, it is known that it provides for administrative co-operation between British and American authorities in the prevention of illicit liquor trade between British and American territories.

ANITOR OVRCOME BY GAS

"I'm Off to the Other World," Reads Note Beside Him.
Frank L. Roberts, 65 years old, janitor at 4125 Olive street, was found unconscious in the basement there at 6 a. m. today on a mattress on a coal pile directly below a gas meter which had been disconnected so that gas poured out in his face.

Scattered about were found six notes he had scribbled on pieces of paper and cardboard. One apparently referred to a quarrel with a tenant. Another read, "One more smoke and I'm off to the other world." He is in a critical condition at City Hospital.

GOLD TEETH BAR TO FOOTBALL

Dental Work Costing $5000 Might Be Damaged, Say Authorities.
MOOSEHEART, Ill., Oct. 1.—Teeth of gold and porcelain costing $5000 will prevent William Lawrence, 16-year-old Mooseheart student, from playing football this year.

Officials of the "City of Childhood" fear the danger of having his teeth broken by a bump on the mouth and have forbidden him to play or even practice. Due to mishapen bones in his mouth, his teeth did not meet, depriving him of the ability to chew food properly. Surgery reshaped his jaws and each tooth was crowned with porcelain and gold, enabling him to bite and chew.

ST. LOUIS BOOTLEG TRADE DECLINING, DRY CHIEF THINKS

Enforcement Progressing Rapidly, Administrator Declares on Return From Washington Conference.

"NO POLICE DUTY
FOR U. S. AGENTS"

Their Job Is to Get at Sources of Supply and Break Up Conspiracies,
He Explains.

"Prohibition enforcement is progressing rapidly, considering the enormity of the problem," Prohibition Administrator Alroy S. Phillips told a Post-Dispatch reporter today, following his return from Washington, where he and other administrators conferred with Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement.

"Andrews doesn't want us to do police duty," Phillips said. "Our job is to get at sources of supply and plug them and to break up big conspiracies to violate the law.
Saloon raids and hip-pocket cases can be handled by police."

"The bootlegger has been defeated at every turn so far. When prohibition first went into effect the problem was simple. The boot-legger had bonded whisky to sell, and it was our duty to stop him.
This era was featured by such cases as the Jack Daniel conspiracy."

Distilling Is Big Problem.
"When the available supply of bonded whisky was consumed or confiscated, the bootlegger turned to the next best thing, real beer, and there were beer scandals here and elsewhere. Today there is little beer on the market. There are one or two sources in the East, but they will be stopped before long."

"Then there was the bootlegging of sacramental wine, the illegal diversion of alcohol by permittees and smuggling. The smugglers had their Rum Row, but Rum Row is gone today. With all other sources of hard liquor plugged up, the bootlegger began distilling on a large scale, and that is the problem confronting us today."

"Even this form of bootlegging is dying down. For one thing, the bootleggers can't get steady customers—their product is so bad people quit drinking it. For another thing, the agents are getting after the distillers and putting them out of business."

Moonshine Still Dismantled.
"In St. Louis, St. Louis County and all around here there is far less moonshining than ever before."

A proposal has been made to place Madison and St. Clair counties in Illinois within the St. Louis jurisdiction, but no action has been taken, Phillips said. Incidentally, Phillips said he had heard moonshiners in Madison County, a leading moonshine section of this district, are dismantling their stills and going away. Phillips was inclined to attribute their departure to investigations by agents from Chicago and to the bootleg warfare now waging on the East Side and in St. Louis and St. Louis County between Italian gunmen and Cuckoo gangsters.

LONDON BISHOP CAN'T FATHOM
U. S. ADOPTION OF DRY LAW

Also Perplexed by High Wages and Large Return for the Employers.

By the Associated Press.
AMT. Ia., Oct. 1.—The Right
Rev. Foley Winnington-Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, cannot understand how the prohibition law was passed in the United States when so many Americans go to England complain about it.

The churchman, who visited Iowa State College today, at the outset of a six weeks' tour of American universities, also expressed his perplexity over several other conditions in this country. He cannot understand how such high wages are paid and leave employers so large a return. Neither can he discern the difference between a Republican and a Democrat.

Bishop Ingram said he expects to come in contact with 100,000 college students during the next six weeks, and tell them the importance of Christianity to a nation. Speaking at a banquet last night he said another purpose was to draw the people of Great Britain and America into closer relationship, to explain the League of Nations from a Christian viewpoint and to study labor conditions. He is here at the invitation of the National Student Council of the Episcopal Church.

Opens Medical Schools to Women.
BUDAPEST, Oct. 1.—Hungarian women may once more study to become doctors, as the Government has overruled the university senate's decision not to admit any more women medical students. The Minister of Education said that Hungary could not bring up a question like women's equality, which had been settled by every civilized western nation.

ONE DRINK MAKES HIM ILL

Lord Dewar, Director of British Firm, Partakes Chiefly of Ginger Beer.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 1.—Visitors to a London restaurant found a middle-aged man lunching alone and sipping, with droll solemnity and two straws, a very soft ginger-beer.

He was Lord Dewar, managing director of the noted firm of distillers which bears his name.

"Do you always drink that?" he was asked.

"Usually," he replied. "You know it is not generally realized that people in the whisky trade are the quintessence of sobriety. Personally, if I take a single glass of port or champagne it makes me feel bad for three or four hours afterwards."

100,000 FUND FOR MORE LUMBER CAMPAIGN
Would Be Spent on Educating People. According to Hoo-Hoo Plan.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 1.—
The Hoo-Hoo plan to collect and spend a fund of more than $1,000,000 in educational work is being laid at the annual convention of the International Order of Hoo-Hoo clubs in session here. The organization represents the lumber industry of the country.

Wilson Compton, secretary-manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, told the convention that the annual lumber consumption in this country has decreased 1,000,000,000 feet recently. Part of this decrease, he said, was due to substitutes which have proved more satisfactory than wood, but most of it he blamed on the failure of the industry to make available its best lumber products.

COURTESY AND SERVICE—OUR MOTTO

ESSEN'S TRIAL NOV. 8

IN JACK DANIEL CASE

Date Is Tentatively Set in Indianapolis by Federal Judge Baltzell.

Fred Essen, former Congressman and Republican boss of St.
Louis County, is scheduled to go to trial before Federal Judge Baltzell in Indianapolis Nov. 8, on the charge of conspiracy in the Jack Daniel whisky removal case, in which 26 men were convicted in Indianapolis last Dec. 24, receiving prison or jail sentences. The date set in Essen's case is "tentative," a dispatch says.

Essen escaped trial with the rest because he was suffering from a severe throat inflammation at the time. George Remus, wealthy bootlegger and chief Government witness, mentioned Essen in his testimony. He did not connect him with the conspiracy so thoroughly as he connected some of the other defendants, but the evidence against Essen appeared to be of weight equal to that against some of those who were convicted.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, a few days ago, affirmed the prison sentences of six of those against whom Remus testified, and remanded the cases of six others for new trials on the ground of insufficient evidence. Of the other convicted men, two are in Leavenworth prison,
two have been released on parole after serving one-third of their sentences, and the rest have completed their jail sentences.

Remus, now held in an Ohio jail and threatened with deportation to Germany, has changed his attitude, and probably will be an unwilling witness against Essen or any of the Jack Daniel defendants arraigned in future. There is doubt whether the Essen case can be made without Remus' testimony.

Government agents recently obtained a statement from a St. Louis County farmer's wife that she saw Essen visit a farm where some of the whisky was stored, and that he talked with the men who were engaged in guarding it.

NO INCOME TAX DEDUCTION

FOR AUTO WEAR AND TEAR

Club Dues and Court Fines Also Are Ruled Off List by Board of Appeals.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Deductions from taxable income for wear and tear on passenger automobiles, club dues and attorney's fees, fines and court costs in combating antitrust law charges, have been refused by the Board of Tax Appeals.

The decision with respect to automobile depreciation and club dues was made in the case of Arthur B. Chivers, former Atlanta, Ga., newspaper man, who claimed deductions of $471 for depreciation of an automobile and $250 for club dues. The board held the automobile was used in entertaining visitors and tended to increase the good will of the newspaper in which Chivers was interested.

In another decision, the Columbus Bread Co. of Ohio was denied the right to deduct $4782 from its income for expenses incurred in defending itself in an antitrust case. The company was succeeded by the Holland Bread Co. of Toledo, and later by Ward Brothers, Inc.

GERMAN WOMEN GAMBLING

Increase of 100 Per Cent in Army of Gamblers Since the War.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—German women are gambling at such a pace that state lottery officials complaints increasing the number of tickets sold from 700,000 to 1,000, 000 in each of the semi-annual lotteries.

Women make up approximately 60 per cent of the 5,000,000 persons in Prussia, Bavaria, Baden and Wurttemberg who buy whole or fractions of tickets. In many cases, officials said, the greater gambling instinct in women is responsible for husbands and sweethearts taking chances on winning up to $100,000 on a whole ticket that sells for $20. Gambling has increased 100 per cent since the war, principally among women.
The four states net about $8,000, 000 annually out of the scramble from a 20 per cent tax on all winnings.

JOB ONLY FOR WARRIORS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 1.—

The Angora Government has issued an order that all officials now holding Government offices who did not take part in the national conflict which overthrew the sultan-ate and established the republic, shall be summarily dismissed.
Henceforth no one may be appointed to Government office who was of proper age to take part in the conflict and failed to do so.
These orders touch a number of officials at Constantinople who held posts here during the allied occupation and did not succeed in running the blockade to join the fighting Nationalists in Anatolia.

President Appoints Judges.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Circuit
Judge Charles F. Parsons of Hawaii was appointed today by President Coolidge to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Hawaii. Circuit Judge Albert M.
Crispy of Hawaii was appointed to succeed Judge Parsons.

campaign in support of county merger scheme, to be held on Oct. 26, may yet be taken up by the Chamber of Commerce, which so far has remained ough three organizations have been organized as proponents of the merger, none is covering the field. The Chamber of Commerce, which has a considerable group of leaders of the county, is the other hand, the County Board of Supervisors, which is organized intensively in support of the merger, is the head of the Missouri State

W. A. Vesper, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, is one of its directors, who was today he would call on F. G. Meyer, president of the Chamber, upon Meyer's return from a brief rest at Fremont, about taking up the campaign.

Wagner's Proposal. Hugh K. Wagner, chairman of the Greater St. Louis County Board of Supervisors, and an "original annexer" was preparing to ask the county board to adopt a constitutional amendment making the county a unit of the city. The Chamber of Commerce, thinking this unfair to the problem and conducting a successful campaign for a referendum on the subject, is now enabling appointments to the late Board of Freeholders, drafted the present proposal.

Wagner's Metropolitan Committee, which has not shown much activity lately, and the Annexation League, Joseph Forshaw is preparing to bear the burden of the campaign. The latter of the two is working chiefly in the suburban voters.

Organization of Pros. In the last few weeks the county Consolidation Committee was formed by Robert J. Forshaw, a former newspaper man, and a number of other associates, as the nucleus of a campaign organization. The Chamber of Commerce officials decided that the county was a downtown business and a resident of the city, was the one of the most important places. He decided to take the place. He decided to take the place. He decided to take the place.

Wagner said today that he would talk the matter over with the President Meyer. He indicated the hope that the county would take up the campaign for the three and a half years remaining.

Wagner, vice president of the county board, said that the vote on the merger was taken last Saturday in a vote of 10-9. He declared that the chamber of commerce was too busy with the unsuccessful Greater St. Louis County Board of Supervisors to start making speeches next week. Vesper declined to say whether he would take up the matter. He said it had been felt that the chamber's duty ended with the constitution. But that when the further action was observed, he desired to wait Vesper's return from Europe. Who got back he declined to say. The merger would disqualify the county board for the November election. The City-County Consolidation Committee obtained a letter from Henry K. Wagner, Jr., active in numerous organizations, and for the election Commission. Vesper emphatically that the

SEVEN LIBERTY BELLS

ENTITLED TO NAME

All Rang Out Tidings of Independence in 1776 in Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—The Liberty Bell in Independence Hall is one of at least half a dozen other Liberty bells in Eastern Pennsylvania communities which also rang out the news that the Declaration of Independence had been signed.

Historically, these others lay claim to the title Liberty bell, and indeed are so called. They have been gathered in one exhibit at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, making complete the collection of the seven bells which commemorated their voices in celebration of the event. All the other six are smaller than the Philadelphia bell. Three of them were imported, as was the Philadelphia bell; two were cast in Bethlehem, Pa., and the other at Bridgewater, Mass. They are:

The Liberty Bells.
The town meeting house bell at Chester, Pa., said to be the oldest municipal bell in the United States. It was cast in England in 1724 and sent to Pennsylvania only 42 years after the landing of Penn. For a number of years it was lost, but five years ago it came to light and was rehung in the Chester courthouse.

The Lancaster bell, cast in England in 1745 for the "Cioister," near Ephrata, Pa., the second in point of size. When it arrived it was declared "sinful and worldly," and was sold to the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Lancaster. After serving at different times as State house bell, fire and church bell, it was broken in 1886, but was preserved.

Berk's County Courthouse bell, cast in Massachusetts in 1763. It also served in various capacities before coming finally into the guardianship of the Berk's County Historical Society.

Two Cracked.
St. John's Parish bell at York, Pa., which was acquired in 1774 by the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, in London. It was hung in the courthouse, because the church building had no belfry. It cracked when tolling for the death of President McKinley in 1901. The Philadelphia bell was cracked when tolling for the death of Chief Justice John Marshall in 1835.

Northampton County Courthouse bell—the only one of the seven to have remained in continuous service up to the present—was cast by Matthias Tommerop in the cellar of the Moravian Brothers' House in Bethlehem, in 1768, after which it was hung in a steeple of the old courthouse at Easton, Pa.

In the tower of the Zion Reformed Church at Allentown, Pa., while the Philadelphia Liberty Bell lay hidden beneath in the basement during British occupancy, hung a small bell which defiantly rung out its summons. After 1790 the Allentown Liberty Bell passed to the municipal academy. It was rediscovered and identified recently. Except for its missing clapper, the bell is as sound as ever.

ADVERTISING SIGNS REMOVED FOR OLIVE ST. WIDENING WORK
Preparatory Steps Taken to Cut 40 Feet Off Old Merchants' Hotel Building.

Seven large painted billboards are being removed from the old Merchants' Hotel Building, southwest corner of Twelfth boulevard and Olive street, preparatory to cutting off 40 feet of the north side of the structure in the Olive street widening project.

Removal of these signs will mean cessation of much free lighting at night for this corner, since the electric lamps used on them consumed 5000 watts of current nightly.

The building is owned by the Essex Investment Co. of which W. K. Bixby, capitalist, is the head. Its present frontage on Twelfth boulevard, which will be reduced by 40 feet, is about 500 feet, while it is 117 feet deep. This property figures in the proposed skyscraper hotel in this block, plans for which remain to be announced.

HUNT LONDON WOMAN ROBBER
Bobbed-Haired Criminal Haunts South Bank of Thames.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A bobbed-haired woman robber, who, has eluded Scotland Yard for two months, has been traced to the neighborhood of the Elephant and Castle, a public house on the south bank of the Thames, in the same neighborhood from which came a notorious band of women known as the "40 elephants," which police dispersed several months ago. The latest crime attributed to the bobbed-haired woman is the robbery of a flat in Golders Green. She is alleged to have obtained a fur coat and leather dressing case valued at $2500.

Bringing up Children

"MY sisters, my sister-in-law and myself all have families, and for years we have all given our children Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. We have recommended it hundreds of times and think it just wonderful, not only to bring up children but for ourselves. At the slightest sign of stomach trouble, colds, constipation and when out of sorts, a dose or two is all they need. Truly, it is a family medicine and the stitch in time that saves nine." (Name and address sent on request.)

Constipation, Colds, Coughs, Fevers and Other Perils of Childhood

One dose and mother's anxiety is lifted. The sickest stomach craves the taste of Syrup Pepsin. From infancy to old age the result is certain. 'Droopy, listless, feverish children respond as if to magic. Headache, stomachache, biliousness, coated tongue, constipation—these are the daily perils for which a host of mothers say Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the safeguard. Sold and recommended by all druggists. For a free trial bottle send name and address to Pepsin Syrup Company, Monticello, Illinois.

BRITISH STRIKERS FAIL IN APPEAL TO EUROPE

International Refuses to Order General Strike—English Owners Triumph.

By the Associated Press.
OSTEND, Belgium, Oct. 1.—A request by the striking British coal miners that a general European coal strike be declared was rejected today by the International Miners' Conference here.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The coal strike which began five months ago seems near its end. The trickle of men back to work, slowly increasing for weeks, has become a rush in some districts. Some 60 per cent of the South Wales miners are expected to be back on the owners' terms by Monday; and what A. J. Cook, the miners' secretary, called "an organized retreat" shows signs of becoming a rout.

The delegates of the Miners' Federation in London yesterday voted to refer to the ballot of the non-strike miners and their own peace proposals. It will take six days for the results of this ballot to be announced, but there are indications that by then the bulk of the miners will be at work. The greatest industrial dispute in English history, which is estimated to have cost Britain $2,000,000,000, thus seems about to collapse.

Two Conflicting Proposals.
The miners' executive proposals are that the men resume work at wages not less than those paid in 1921 and that an independent tribunal draw up a national wage agreement. The Government proposals are that work be resumed after local negotiations and that the Government thereafter set up a national tribunal to fix wages in cases where the old hours are increased.

However the miners vote on this, the issue seems decided. The men have given up hope in many districts and the result of the prolonged deadlock will be complete victory for the owners, tempered only by the national tribunal and even this may not become effective.

Federation Faces Collapse.
Worse, from the men's viewpoint, their national federation seems on the verge of destruction—at any rate it will be years before it can again become effective. This result has been brought about by the successful tactics of the owners against Government pressure in refusing to negotiate national agreements on hours and wages. The failure to get national agreements destroys the power of the Miners' Federation, since the agreement under which the men are now seeping back are between local bodies of workers and local combinations of mine owners.

The tragedy, from the miners' viewpoint, is that their present peace proposals, which the Baldwin Cabinet now says it is unable to impose on the owners, would have been accepted with alacrity by the Government and undoubtedly forced down the throats of the owners either before the general strike or immediately thereafter. The price the miners pay for rejecting Sir Herbert Samuel's memorandum, which ended the general strike, is that they cannot now get terms approaching those offered in that document.

PROSPECTS DECLARED GOOD FOR ILLINOIS DUCK HUNTING
Result of Flood Conditions, Says
President of Izaak Walton League.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Duck shooting prospects for this year, as an aftermath of flood conditions, are better than ever, says Robert Scholes, Peoria, president of the Izaak Walton League.

"Thousands of acres of cornfields along the Mississippi, Illinois, Sangamon and other rivers," said President Scholes, "are now covered with water varying in depth from one to ten feet or more. It is doubtful if much of this corn will mature sufficiently to make even duck feed. But in every cornfield, there is an abundance of smartweed and other natural food."

"The ducks will scatter out over these flooded fields and almost any good hunter will be able to get enough ducks to make it worth while. This year's shooting at the baited holes in the duck clubs and commercialized shooting holes is problematical. If the water goes down rapidly and stays down, it may be good."

"The situation this year is quite similar to conditions that would exist if the state owned large acreages of land for public shooting grounds. With the steady growth in the number of duck clubs and commercialized shooting places, the ordinary man has no place to shoot ducks. Four hundred of these clubs were licensed last year. The acreage owned varies in each club but several own over 2000 acres, and one has about 5000 acres."

"Sportsmen must put forth a concerted effort at the next session of the General Assembly to get further appropriations to complete the program started in 1925. To buy and save for the people the land that is left. Unless this is done in the immediate future, there will be no hunting ground except for club members."

GERT SWAZY LOSES HER SUIT FOR FORTUNE

Former Circus Star, 71, Now Poor and Unable Even to Do Odd Jobs.

By the Associated Press.
HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 1.—Gert Swazy, once the toast and favorite of Broadway, has lost her six-year fight to recover part of the fortune left in trust for her by her father, Moses Swazy, who made a fortune in real estate in Haverhill.

Judge Quinn in Superior Court here recently found that the United States Fidelity and Guarantee Co. of Boston was not liable for the $15,000 bond of Charles H. Goodwin. Goodwin turned in his last report as trustee of the Swazy trust fund in 1903, three years before he died, showing the fund had evaporated. Six years ago Miss Swazy filed suit, charging Goodwin with maladministration in selling real estate, but the bonding company contended the equity was lost by foreclosure.

Miss Swazy, now 71 years old, has been living in a dilapidated shack in Haverhill for the last several years and pining her last hope of avoiding the poor house on a recovery of a part of the trust fund.

Pampered by a father, who built her a private race track and sent her to the exclusive Bradford Academy, Helen Gertrude Swazy Wilson ran away at the age of 16 from her 62 cats and 50 dogs to join a circus in New York. She blossomed as a rider in Robinson's circus and later with P. T. Barnum and she became nationally known. Her father, unable to turn her from her career, gave her a small circus of her own and the minstrel team of Primrose and West went with her on tour.

She built up a reputation for kindly dealings. Once it was reported she sold a necklace of 145

ADVERTISEMENT NEW HAY FEVER PRESCRIPTION BY ST. LOUIS DOCTOR

A St. Louis physician is now offering to the general public a preparation for Hay Fever which he has been successfully using in his private practice since 1919, and which he guarantees will give positive relief to the most severe cases of Hay Fever, or it costs nothing.

The principal of the Sherman School of this city, says this prescription permanently relieved him of his Hay Fever. Scores of other St. Louis people praise it highly many of them reporting that the sneezing and other distressing symptoms disappear after one day's treatment. Wolff-Wilson, all the Walgreen stores, and other good druggists are distributing this treatment, under the name of Hay Remo, with an offer to refund the purchase price to anyone who does not get satisfactory results after using half of it.

Hay Remo is also very effective for nasal sinus trouble and Summer catarrh, aiding free drainage of the sinus by reducing the congestion and inflammation.

A Dallas or a Dayton FREE with St. Louis

P+D+C shows that the St. Louis Post-Dispatch gives Extra Circulation in The Billionarea—costing you nothing—equivalent to the population of Dallas or Dayton.

The BILLIONAREA is more than a market name. It is a market condition. In addition to its unusual prosperity and growth, Greater St. Louis offers advertisers an annual purchasing power of over a BILLION dollars—one of the highest average purchasing powers per family of any city in America.

A P+D+C study of St. Louis reveals that an advertisement in the daily St. Louis Post-Dispatch reaches forty thousand more families [160,000 more people] in The Billionarea, the Greater St. Louis Market, than the second St. Louis daily.

This extra circulation reaches a population in Greater St. Louis equal to that of a city the size of Dallas or Dayton. This extra circulation costs you nothing, because the advertising rate of the daily St. Louis Post-Dispatch is no higher than that of the second St. Louis daily.

Without paying a dollar more for sales or advertising cost, you can secure extra sales volume equivalent to that which might be obtained by placing an advertising campaign in a city of 160,000.

This is the kind of rock-bottom sales-meaning facts that P+D+C brings out. It eliminates all buncombe and theory and tells you the truth about markets and media.

P+D+C is what every sales manager has longed for—common sense applied to market analysis—common sense applied to newspaper circulations.

A P+D+C analysis of St. Louis proves:

[1] That the true, natural trading area of St. Louis is The Billionarea, the Greater St. Louis Market, not some mythical zone arbitrarily drawn on the map to include thinly scattered circulation in distant small towns and rural communities.

[2] That the million people in The Billionarea have a billion dollars a year to spend; making the average Billionarea family's purchasing power one of the highest in America.

[3] That this great concentration of people, spending power, and retail outlets, makes volume selling possible at unusually low sales cost.

[4] That the extraordinary prosperity of The Billionarea right now makes it an exceptional opportunity for the volume marketer; and,

[5] That the Post-Dispatch reaches practically every family of buying consequence in The Billionarea—and therefore can sway the whole market in your interest.

Campaigns in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch invariably prove to be unusually profitable. The Home Merchants have learned this as well as national advertisers, for Home Merchants placed more advertising in the Post-Dispatch during the first six months of this year than they did in all three other St. Louis newspapers combined.

P+D+C proves that the true, natural trading area of any city is not a zone many miles wide; but the metropolitan district, consisting of the city proper and the immediately adjoining thickly settled communities. Here population, earning power—and therefore spending power—retail outlets and newspaper circulation are all concentrated. Here goods may be sold in largest quantities at lowest cost, and sales can be controlled by newspaper advertising.

The P+D+C Manual and The Book of Information About The Billionarea—The Greater St. Louis Market, will be mailed free to anyone interested in the advertising and sales opportunity of this market.

Police Seek Airplane "Borrower."
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—A man, who is charged with "borrowing" an airplane, taking his wife for a ride and crashing in a forced landing in a corn field, is being sought today by police of Washington and Baltimore. A warrant, issued on complaint of J. L. Jones, commercial aviator, charges Jack Burke, student aviator, with taking the plane without permission of the owners.

ISLAND AIRPORT FOR CHICAGO PROJECTED

Park Board Plans Artificial Islet in Lake as a Landing Field.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The park board plans to build an island airport in Lake Michigan beyond Chicago's harbor breakwater. Promoters of the idea propose that it shall be the "farthest east" point on Chicago's reclaimed lake front.

Breakers which once tossed their spray at the edge of Michigan avenue have been pushed back almost a mile to provide a broad municipal park occupied by Field Museum and Soldiers' Field. Opposite this new shoreline, stretching southward from the business district, a chain of artificial islands is under construction.

These islands will be parks, linked by bridges to form a drive. One of these islands 67 acres in extent, will be a temporary landing field at the time of the Army-Navy football game this fall.

Outside this island will stand the artificial insular rectangle which is to be Chicago's airport of the future. It is to be 2500 feet wide and seven blocks long. Flanking it on the north and west will be the municipal pier, center of the city's lake traffic, and the railroad lines.

On the edges of the airport will be sites for hangars, and the port will have east-west and north-south runways where planes may land and take off. Municipal aero and harbor commissions are adding the park board in the project.

Storm Levels Hill in Paraguay.
By the Associated Press.
ASUNCION, Paraguay, Oct. 1.—A dispatch to Tribuna from San Felipe, in the department of Santiago, says a hurricane wiped out an extensive tract of forest and destroyed several nearby houses. A hill in the department of San Estanislao crumbled with a deafening noise, leaving a deep ditch in its place and causing villagers to flee. The dispatch does not state whether there were any casualties.

USE OF SALADS

SIMPLIFIES MEALS

The Plainest Vegetables Become Delicious Food When Served as Salads.

As salads are a necessary part of the daily menu, the following recipe for seasonable salads will be appreciated by the home cook:

Cocoanut Pear Salad.

Arrange a fresh pear on lettuce leaves; pour one tablespoon of mayonnaise over pear, completely covering it, and sprinkle with grated cocoanut to give the effect of cotton.

Minted Pear Salad.

Parse three pears, cut in halves and remove core. Cut in thin slices and place on bed shredded lettuce. Serve with this minted salad dressing:

Minted Salad Dressing.

Boil one-half cup water and one-fourth cup sugar for three minutes. Add one teaspoon butter, yolk of one egg and one teaspoon cornstarch. When these ingredients are well blended pour on gradually hot syrup. Cook mixture in top of double boiler for 15 minutes. Remove from fire and add one-third cup lemon juice. Strip mint leaves from one bunch of mint, wash thoroughly and stir leaves into hot mixture. When cold remove mint leaves and fold in one-third cup whipped cream.

Radish Salad.

Shred one cup of radishes, chop fine three-fourths cup of stuffed olives, shred one-half cup cabbage and toss together, adding one-half teaspoon of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Moisten with salad dressing and serve on lettuce hearts.

Tomato Salad.

Use three medium-sized tomatoes, one drill pickle, two cups shredded cabbage and four tablespoons French dressing.

Shred cabbage; dice tomatoes; chop drill pickle. Toss all together and moisten with French dressing. Beets and Sauerkraut. Cut six cold cooked beets into fine slices or small cubes and mix with them three cups of sauerkraut. Put a large white onion through the fine knife of the food chopper and sprinkle over the top of the salad. Serve with either French dressing or mayonnaise.

Bean Salad.

Mix equal parts of lima and string beans, cold boiled potatoes and celery; one tablespoonful each of chopped onion and sweet pickle. Serve on lettuce hearts with mayonnaise dressing.

Savory Sauerkraut.

Set sauerkraut on stove in kettle with enough water to cover. Put in a ham bone or a piece of ham or bacon, some lard, and quite a few sliced onions, and let it cook about an hour. Add enough grated raw potatoes to thicken it a little. Some juniper berries and caraway seeds may be added while cooking it to enrich its flavor. When the hour is up put in the kraut and cook 30 minutes.

Tomato Pie.

Slice six large ripe tomatoes. Put them in alternate layers in a pie dish with three hard-boiled eggs cut also in slices, and one-fourth pound of fresh mushrooms, peeled and sliced. Pour over a half cup of well seasoned tomato sauce. Cover with very short pie crust, paste and bake in a fairly quick oven about 30 minutes. Serves four.

Substitute Tomatoes.

Isn't it fine, that when oranges are scarce tomatoes are so plentiful? The scientists now tell us that the juice of tomatoes can be substituted for orange juice quite safely in the baby's diet.

When a child is fed pasteurized milk it is very important to include the orange juice or tomato juice.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Little Things That Will Make Cooking Easier.

Do not soak your potatoes in cold water. The starch, salts and the body-building material are practically wasted in this way.

Before using bananas for salads or desserts, roll them in lemon juice.

Many a housekeeper has been puzzled to know how to clean the inside of glass straws so they would be quite as bright as the outside. Pipe cleaners make a perfectly satisfactory device for this purpose.

Do you know that light will cause canned fruits and vegetables to lose their color?

This is why foods canned in glass should be stored in the dark.

Beets are excellent for making new blood and should be eaten raw. Grate them fine and serve as a salad—with lettuce and a dressing of oil and lemon juice.

The success of cooking cereal free from lumps is to first moisten it with cool or lukewarm water and then stir into actively boiling water.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

These Recipes Are Arranged to Make Five or Six Servings.

PREPARE rice as for plain boiling, being careful to keep the grains dry and separated. Turn into small cups that have been wet with cold water and set away to chill. When molded turn out on a platter and serve with a border of creamed hard-boiled eggs. Garnish each rice mold with parsley.

Corn and Tomato Pudding. One and one-half cups grated corn, one cup tomatoes, one-half cup brown stock, one cup bread-crumbs, two tablespoons grated cheese, one tablespoon butter.

Combine the stock, bread-crumbs and the vegetables and season with salt and pepper to taste. Place in a buttered baking-dish with a layer of bread-crumbs, butter and cheese on top. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are delicately brown.

English Trifle. Use stale cake from previous day's dessert. Cut cake in rounds with a cookie cutter. Place the rounds in a glass dish and pour over one and one-half cups of grape juice and then a cup of boiled custard. Place on ice and serve with whipped cream and any desired jam.

Squash Soup. One pint cooked Hubbard squash, one onion, two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, one quart milk.

Strain the squash through a soup strainer. Combine the melted butter and flour; add the milk to make a smooth white sauce. While the sauce is simmering let the sliced onion cook a few moments. Strain the sauce and combine with the squash, stirring to keep it the proper consistency.

Spoon Bread. One and one-half cups milk, four eggs, one tablespoon margarine, one-half cup white cornmeal, one-half teaspoon salt.

Heat the milk in the double boiler. Combine with cornmeal and the salt and stir this slowly into hot milk. When the mixture thickens, take from the fire and add the egg yolks well beaten with the butter. Beat the combined mixture thoroughly and finally fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour the batter into a pudding dish and bake for about 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Escalloped Cabbage. Cook cabbage until tender, but not quite done. Put in a buttered baking dish a layer of buttered fine cracker crumbs. Butter them by pouring melted butter over the crumbs and then mixing thoroughly. Add to the crumbs a layer of cooked cabbage saturated with a thin white sauce, another layer of crumbs, a layer of tomatoes sprinkled with a little sugar, salt and pepper. Cover with the balance of the prepared crumbs and grated cheese. Bake 20 minutes.

Green Tomato Pie. For this old-fashioned pie line a pie pan with pastry. For the filling, take three cups of green tomatoes, one cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, grated rind of half a lemon and the juice of one lemon.

Wash tomatoes and cut up fine. Add sifted dry ingredients, lay rind and juice. Mix well and turn into pie pan lined with crust. Put on top crust and bake in a moderate oven.

SAVES More than Half the Cost of Cream

THE double-rich Wilson's Milk, as it comes from the can, fills every cream need—but the cost is less than half. It is more than twice as rich as fresh, dairy milk—because it is fresh milk with the cream left in, and only water removed by evaporation. It is easy to see why Wilson's is so economical for every cream need—why it adds extra richness to cooking. But all evaporated milks are not the same. Try Wilson's—the difference will surprise you.

By Herman Wecke.

Pitching always has played an important part in the deciding of a world's baseball championship series. There probably will be no difference in that coming game between the Cardinals and Yankees, starting at the Yankee stadium tomorrow. Therefore a comparison of pitchers likely to work in the series will be interesting.

On season's records, the Cardinals do not suffer here. But there is another factor, and that may be an important one, in which the Cardinals run second. That is experience.

If the Cardinal pitchers are handicapped in the coming series in any way it will be because of LACK OF EXPERIENCE in the world's championship.

There are six pitchers on the Cardinal staff likely to see service before one of the contenders has won four games. They are Haines, Rhem, Reinhart, Sherdell, Alexander and Herman Bell. Of this lot only one, Glover Cleveland Alexander, has seen service in the big set. That was in 1915 as a member of the Phillies. And in that series, against the Boston Red Sox, Alex was called upon to face George Herman Ruth, the big gun of the 1915 Yankees.

World Series New to Cards.

Except for Alex, all the other hurlers will be facing world's series fire for the first time. This lack of experience may or may not have an effect on the hurlers. There have been instances in world's series history when a youngster has been the hero. It happened many years ago when Babe Adams, then a rookie, was the hero of Pittsburgh's set with Detroit. And there was Hugh Bennett of the Red Sox, some time later. Also The Great Mals, erstwhile Cardinal, maybe the inexperienced Cardinal pitchers will rise to the occasion this year.

Now for the Yankee pitchers likely to work in the coming games. Miller Huggins has six men, who are figured to work. And five of these hill artists—Pennock, Reuther, Shawkey, Hoyt and Jones—have been through the mill. The only exception is Urban Shocker, who is expected to play an important part in the coming battles. Thus it will be seen that the New Yorkers will not lack for experience.

Another thing, the Cardinals have a comparatively young pitching staff. The New York hill artists are all veterans.

Where St. Louis Has Edge.

But figures for the season, those made in the regular leagues, give the Cardinal sextet the advantage. The six twirlers likely to work for Hornsby during the season won 75 games and lost 43 for winning percentage of .435. The Yankee twirlers finished with 58-46-608.

The advantage in favor of the Cardinals does not end there. For instance, the men of Hornsby pitched 77 complete games, whereas the New York veterans twirled in 64. Huggins' hill men allowed 1345 hits and those for the Cardinals but 1124.

As individuals, three members of the Cardinal flinging corps have better winning percentages than the leading New Yorker. These are Haines, Rhem and Reinhart. Reinhart's percentage is .467, while the best mark for a Yankee is .454, owned by Pennock.

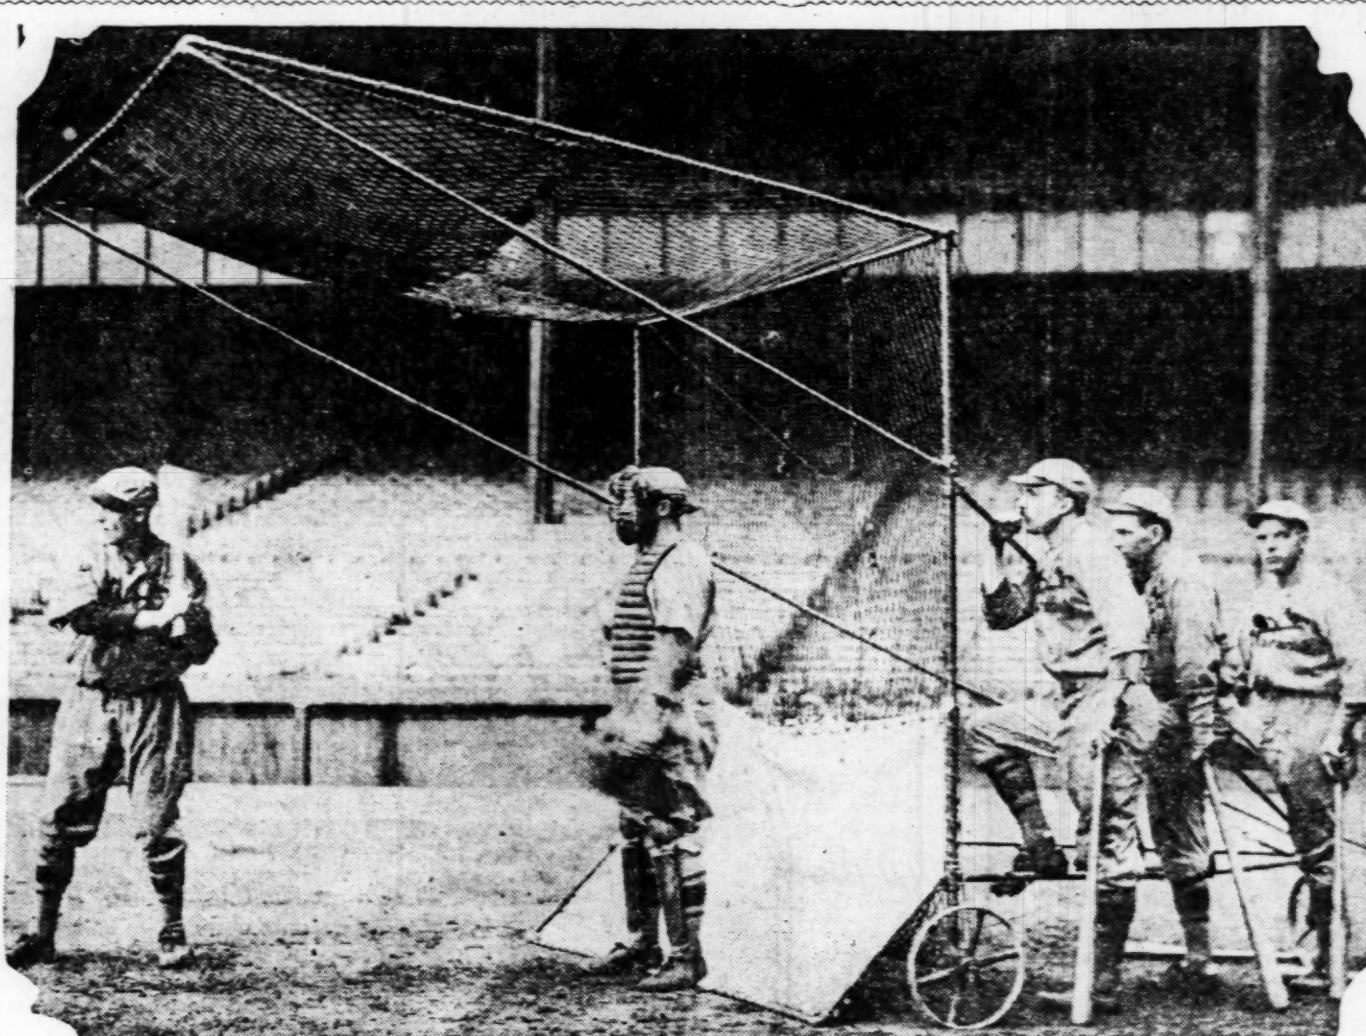

In total number of victories, Rhem leads the Cardinals with 29, while Pennock won 21 for New York. Rhem, however, pitched 47 complete battles, more than any member of the Yankees can show. Pennock and Shocker, with 18 each, pace the American Leaguers.

Jess Haines, during the season, ranked second among the major league pitchers with 13 victories against four defeats, for a mark of .765, while Rhem, with 29-7-741, was third.

A First-String Relief Man.

Pairing off the twirlers and comparing them individually would be quite a task. If anything of the kind were done, it would have to be Sherdell vs. Pennock, Haines

"Cards and Yankees Best Matched Teams in History Of World's Series"—McGraw

Club That Gets the First Punch Will Probably Be Returned Winner, Giants Manager Thinks—Home Runs Will Not Prove Important.

By John McGraw.
Manager New York Giants.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Much has been said and written about the advantage or disadvantage of the short right field fences in the St. Louis ball park and in the Yankee Stadium; but in my opinion, this so-called danger to pitchers won't make a lot of difference one way or the other. There is so much speculation over every little detail, just before a world's series, that these get magnified out of all proportion. Those things always even themselves up.

After all, why should the nearness of the stands figure any more importantly in a world series game than in any other? They won't as a matter of fact. Comparatively few balls are hit into them during the season. The pitchers will simply have to pitch good baseball and use their judgment just as they do at any other time. Mighty few batters are going to get hold of the ball with enough force to drive it just where they want to. On account of timidity and tenseness the batters rarely get as many long line hits in the big games as they do in the ordinary ones. They usually try too hard.

I imagine that both clubs will start lefthanders in Saturday's game. That will increase the difficulty of hitting into right field. The chances are that, instead of a battle of long hits, it will be a close-fought game, with hits coming few and far between.

It's Up to the Pitcher.

There is always a sort of brake or pressure on the batters in the beginning of a world's series due to over-cautiousness. And don't forget this: No matter how close the fences are, the batter has got to hit the ball on the nose. If the pitcher can keep them from getting hold of the ball cleanly there will be no real danger.

I recall a remark made by the late Bill Donovan once, when in discussing the lively ball he said: "No matter what kind of a ball is used, the batter has got to hit it on the nose. It won't go without."

against Shocker, Reinhart against Reuther; Rhem vs. Hoyt; Alexander vs. Jones, and Bell against Shawkey. That would give a line, but it would not be accurate, inasmuch as the twirlers are not likely to face each other in that way. This because managers of the two clubs will not go so much on season's records in choosing their twirlers for the various games.

However, there is one thing to be said about the pitchers in which the Cardinals seem to have an advantage. Hornsby, for instance, has Herman Bell, not a regular, but a first-string relief man, one who can go in at any time to replace a faltering mate. The same does not hold true of the Yankees. When one of Huggins' starting hurlers is pounded, the little leader of the New York club usually is forced to send in another first-string man.

Thus, while Hornsby can save his starting pitchers if he cares to, Huggins may be forced to break up his starting plans. And that would be an advantage for St. Louis.

So, unless INEXPERIENCE proves a deciding factor, the Cardinals pitchers can be said to be on a par with the Yankee twirlers.

St. Louis Now Feels as Young As in Far Gone Days of 1884

It Was in That Year That Fred Dunlap Led St. Louis Unions to a Championship.

Although Rogers Hornsby brings to St. Louis its first National League pennant, the biggest city on the Mississippi River has enjoyed pennant thrills before this. In 1884 Fred Dunlap, heading the St. Louis Union Association team in an outlaw league, walked away from all contenders and gave the Mound City a flag to float over. Then again in 1885, 1886, 1887 and 1888, Capt. Charlie Comiskey, the same man who owns the Chicago White Sox of today, led the St. Louis Browns to four consecutive pennants in the old-time American Association; and in those days St. Louis had the biggest name in the baseball world.

The Browns met the Chicago White Sox under Anson, National League pennant winners in world's series contests in 1885 and 1886. The first series ended in a tie—three victories each, and the weather too bad to go on. In 1886 the Browns took the series, four games to two. Detroit was the National League champion in 1887, and what those Wolverine slingers did to the Browns is almost too sorry to mention—10 victories in 15 contests. In 1888 the Browns met the Giants in a contest for world series honors, and Buck Ewing and his cohorts licked Comiskey's men six times in 16 starts.

Many Famous Players.

Not until McGraw won his fourth successive pennant in 1924 did any team on a major circuit duplicate Comiskey's feat of taking four successive pennants. During Comiskey's four-year supremacy his payroll read like this:

Comiskey, first base; William Robinson, second base; Arlie Latham, third base; W. Gleason and W. White, shortstop; Charles Welch, Hugh Nicol, Tip O'Neill, Harry Lyons and Tommy McCarthy, outfielders; Doc Bushong, Jack Doyle and Jack Millikan, catchers; Bobby Carruthers, Dave Foutz, Nat Hudson, Silver King, Elton Chamberlain, Herr and Devin, pitchers.

St. Louis had a team in the National League the first year of its existence, 1876. That team finished second, six games behind Chicago, and never again did a St. Louis team finish as high as second in the National race until Hornsby brought home the bacon in 1926.

The chief pitcher on the team of 1876 was George Washington Bradley, who on July 15, 1876, pitched a no-hit game against Hartford, the first contest of that sort in National history.

Some More Real Stars.

The Mound City dropped out of the National after the season of 1877, only to return to the fold in 1883 for a two-year stay. This second team was not a big winner, but on its playing list were some of the greatest names in the history of the game. Among them were Henry Boyle, a splendid pitcher; Joe Quinn, afterward second baseman of the pennant-winning Bostonians of the '90s; Charles Sweeney, who set a world strikeout record at 19; John Healy, a pitcher who went around the world with the Spalding tourists in 1888-89; Jerry Denny, the prince of third basemen of his day; Fred Dunlap, without an equal at second base, and Jack Glasscock, a tremendously successful shortstop. The team was managed by is another play not used much by the Yanks.

I notice that Huggins is quoted as saying that he hasn't any batters who can make the hit-and-run play with any sureness. That shows that Huggins knows pretty well what he has to deal with and will work accordingly.

The Cardinals will probably show an edge on the Yanks if they attempt the hit-and-run play. That

Resin Bag to Be Available During Series Struggle

Landis Rules It Must Be Behind Pitcher's Box in All Title Contests.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Baseball's big spectacle, the 1926 world series, dominated the sports world today with the St. Louis Nationals on the threshold of their first championship struggle opposed by the New York Yankees.

The series opens at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Yankee Stadium.

Speculation as to the outcome appears to be about evenly divided. Supporters of the Yankees gain comfort in the fact that their favorites will have the advantage in experience as they are now entering upon their fourth world series. But they have been crowned world champions only once.

Backers of the Cardinals cloak their beliefs of a world title for St. Louis about the fighting spirit of the players which carried them to the pinnacle in the National League after an uphill battle.

Some Wall street commissioners have the Yankees billed as favorites at 4 to 5, but others report even money.

Herb Pennock or Urban Shocker is likely to receive the call for mound duty for the Yankees tomorrow, with "Wee Willie" Sherdell or Grover Alexander in the box for the Cardinals.

Commissioner Landis has decided that a resin bag shall be behind the pitcher's box during each game, available for use at any time.

The Cardinals displayed great batting power in a workout yesterday. Hornsby, Lester Bell, Jim Bottomley and Billy Southworth crashing out heavy drives. The rest of the team hit well against the pitching of Rhem, Alexander, Haines, Sherdell and Reinhart.

Cards Watch Yanks Workout.

The Yankees' practice was confined to a workout of the infield and warming up pitchers. The Cardinals watched the Yankees, and incidentally, Manager John McGraw of the Giants left the field his arm linked with Hornsby, afterwards.

New York absorbed the vanguard of fans, many of them from St. Louis, with customary facility, but hotel lobbies, the theater district and centers of metropolitan sporting reflected evidence of unusual series interest.

If the rush on Saturday morning for the turnstiles to the unserved areas of the Yankee stadium is anything like expectations, the big ball park will bulge with a record series crowd. The previous high mark, 62,817 in 1923, may be exceeded by 5000 if all available room is filled.

Cards Will Play Better In Title Series Than in Flag Race, Hornsby Says

Team, Under Terrific Strain for More Than Five Weeks of the Season, Under No Such Handicap Now, Leader Says

—Fans Did Much to Improve Team's Morale.

By Rogers Hornsby.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—With the series drawing nearer, the question naturally arises as to whether we have mapped out any plan of campaign against the Yankees. Yes, we have mapped out a plan of campaign. And our plan is to go out there on the ball field, with our best pitchers pitching, all our batters taking their cuts and trying to get as many base hits as possible.

We were under a strain during the last few weeks of the pennant race, but that is all over now. We fought hard. We wanted to win the pennant for our own selves. You know that means a great start in life for some of the boys, many of them young in the game and not getting big salaries. Its pretty fine for them to know that in the middle of October they will get a check from Judge Landis that will help them make investments to make it easier for them in the years to come.

Not All a Cash Affair.

But we were working for more than that. The professional ball player is not a cold cash proposition. We couldn't help feeling how the folks back home were longing for a world series.

Through all the long years without a world series the St. Louis fans were pretty loyal to come out and pay their dough, with the team never finishing up there at the top.

About the middle of the race this year the public began to realize that we might be a contender and by the time the August series with the Pirates at St. Louis rolled around the town was all steamed up. They packed the park and sat through rain and more than 100,000 persons paid their money to see the games with the Pirates.

That made a big impression with us and then when we went to Chicago and won a double header and moved to Cincinnati we ran into one of the best thrills the boys had all year. More than 5000 St. Louis fans paid their money for railroad fares to travel to Cincinnati for the pennant race.

Now that strain is over. We have won a pennant for St. Louis and the games with the Yankees will be just ball games. We want to win. We will hustle every minute and give all we have to win. Just as hustled and gave all we had during the pennant race. But there is no great strain or worry. Ball club will be a whole lot better to beat in the world series than was during the last few weeks of the pennant race.

Sustained Punch Will Win For Yankees, Huggins Says

New York Manager Says His Club Is Not a "One-Run" Team
but Gets Its Scores in Clusters, Thereby Resembling Cards—Will Be Slugging Series.

(Copyright, 1926.)
By Miller Huggins.

Manager New York Yankees, American League Champions.
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—On paper, the Yankees and the Cardinals size up as about equal in hitting strength. Their hitting averages over the season are about on a par. Both clubs are of the slugging, free-swinging type, with plenty of drive and plenty of power.

"They are a stand-off," most of the experts say, going down the list of hitters and pointing out the sluggers here and the weaker hitters there.

But here again the baseball manager takes a little different slant than the average fan or writer. When I think of hitting strength I consider it in terms of runs scored rather than base hits. In other words, I'm not so much interested in the occasional 300 hitters on a club as I am in the grouping of my hitters to get the greatest scoring power.

I've seen clubs go through nine innings and get as high as 10 or 12 hits without scoring a single run. On the other hand I've watched other clubs get five or six runs on the same number of hits. After all it's runs which win ball games and the triple with two on and nobody out isn't half as valuable in a baseball game as a single that wins the bases full and everybody in motion.

Yanks Score Runs in Clusters.
I believe the Yankees have the power of sustained attack. A few weeks ago one of the newspaper men traveling with the club was discussing hitting. "The Yankees have a hard time scoring one run, yet they can score five runs easier than any club I ever saw," he said.

Which, translated, means simply that the Yankees are not a one-run club. They can't sacrifice successfully; they have difficulty working the squeeze of the double steal and they aren't adept at the hit-and-run. But they have sustained attack. Once they start hitting they keep going.

If you go over the season's record you'll find that the Yankees have usually been on the short end of the 1 to 9 and the 2 to 1 games. In games in which either team scored four or more runs you'll find the Yankees on the long end in the majority of cases.

Cards Same Type of Team.
The Cardinals, I believe, are just the same sort of ball club. Like the Yankees they are sluggers. Like the Yankees they find it easier to make three or four runs than to make one.

But I frankly believe we have one advantage. I believe we have a more sustained attack than the top of my batting order and going right on through to the finish there isn't a really weak spot. Every man can hit—and every man is permitted to hit. I've found the system won games in the regular season. I don't see any reason to change for the series.

Princeton will play Amherst at Princeton.
Vermont, which held Columbia scoreless through three periods last week, plays Syracuse tomorrow.

Among other battles will be Bucknell vs. Washington and Jefferson; Washington and Lee vs. West Virginia; Hobart vs. Dartmouth.

FOUR AUTO SPEEDWAYS MERGED: TEX RICKARD OFFERED MANAGEMENT
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Oct. 1.—A merger of four of the largest automobile racing speedways in the country into a $2,000,000 corporation to be known as the United Motor Speedway of America, Inc., was announced here last night by officials of the Rockingham Motor Speedway of Salem, N. H.

Tex Rickard, sporting promoter, has been asked to act as general manager of the new company, the announcement said and has taken the matter under consideration. The speedways involved besides the one at Salem are those at Atlantic City, N. J., Charlotte, N. C., and Alton, Ill.

The merger was reported to have been completed at a conference at the Loretta, Pa., home of Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate. The initial meet to be held under the new corporation is scheduled for the Rockingham speedway Oct. 12, with a 200-mile race and two, fifty mile dashes.

Postponement of Bears-Ames Game Aids Local Team

Two-Day Respite Will Enable Injured Men to Recover and Field to Dry.

With their Iowa State College game postponed until Monday afternoon, the Washington U. football men were sent through a rigorous scrimmage program yesterday in place of the light tapering off drill scheduled. All work was done under the same adverse weather conditions which have rendered the practice field a bog, and which caused the university officials to fear for the newly-sodded playing field. The gridiron will now have two extra days in which to dry out.

While the extra period will favor the local eleven, whose injury list has been further increased by one more casualty, Meyer Libman, guard, the postponement will also aid the visitors, whose backfield star, "Chink" Hall, was suffering from a foot injury. Another Ames regular who will be able to start, it is now conjectured, is Johnson, end, who will complete the full strength of the Cyclones.

Mahan Still Limping.
In spite of the postponement, Capt. Mahan, who is now dragging a very stiff leg around, will probably not be in condition to start, the university medical authorities voiced.

In addition to Mahan, other candidates who have been on the injured list during the past week include Jack McDonald, end, still troubled with a bad ankle, Paul Harding, halfback, Otis Sturbois, tackle, and Arthur Hannibal, guard.

The combination which the local eleven will meet is reputed to be at top strength after a strenuous scrimmage program which began with the first day of their training season. Coach Noel Workman was fortunate in having at his disposal a sophomore squad which formed one of the best freshmen aggregations in the Valley last year. This year's freshman squad at the Cyclone camp number 169 aspirants, the largest squad in the Valley.

Bears Are Outweighed.
The Ames line is expected to average 185 pounds while the Washington forwards will have difficulty in averting over 25. In the Ames backfield, heavies in Lindbom, Holman, Miller and Klug will swing a weight balance again in their favor, while the smaller local backs, Hayes, Harding and Mahan, will send the local poundage down. The Ames backfield is 10 pounds heavier per man than that of last year when the flashy Behm brothers capered through opposing lines.

The selection of the local backfield quartet is still puzzling local followers. With Mahan out, the combination which has been sent through practice drill with the first string line has been composed of Hayes, McDonough, Whittier and Senne, but Harry Campbell, Harold Hall, Earl Millard and Paul Harding are still considered starting possibilities.

Choice Elliott, last year reserve center, appeared to have gained the edge over Walter Vesper, letterman, in the struggle for the pivotal position. With these two is also Walter Brown, sophomore, who has been offering plenty of competition with a pair of excellent passing hands. Elliott, who bulks larger than Vesper, is reckoned a better defensive component as well as more accurate passer for the first string eleven.

TORONTO HAS 3-GAME LEAD ON LOUISVILLE

By the Associated Press.
TORONTO, Oct. 1.—The Toronto Internationals made it three straight over Louisville, American Association champions yesterday, by taking another "Little World's Series" game in 10 innings, 2 to 1, before a crowd of 49,000.

Hits by Mullin, Layne and Miller produced the winning run after two were out in the extra inning. Mullin's blow scoring Mullin from second base. Mullin, Toronto third baseman, was injured sliding to the plate.

Sun Shines on Women Golfers After Three Days of Drenching

Better Scores Expected as Barage of Water Is Lifted and District Tournament Enters Its Quarterfinal Round.

By Jack Alexander.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

SUNSET HILL COUNTRY CLUB, Oct. 1.—For the first time since their meet started, the players in the women's district golf championship here today were favored with fair weather as the event entered its quarter-final round.

The sun, which made its debut after the matches were over yesterday and the contestants had their third straight soaking has cleared the course of most of its occasional water and made the fairways playable. Better scores were expected to supplant the 90's that have been made in the drenching rains of the past few days.

Mrs. Wallace Wins.
Miss Virginia Pop, defending champion, Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace Jr., Mrs. I. S. Hynes and Miss Katherine Crunden were expected to survive for the semifinals tomorrow. Miss Pop and Mrs. Wallace are favored to reach the final round, with Mrs. Hynes as the "dark horse."

Mrs. Wallace, who was medalist, has thus far shown a return to her form of 1924, when she won the title, turning in a 40 for the first nine holes in the heaviest rain of the tournament. She easily defeated Mrs. Emil Laun of Sunset, 6 and 5.

Another Sunset player, Mrs. W. T. Dooley, club champion, fell by the same score before the shots of Miss Pop, who made the turn in 41. For the second time the driving were postponed because of the weather, this time going over to tomorrow.

Hot Off the Gridiron.
IOWA CITY, Ia.—Iowa University's gridiron team slipped and slid through a sea of mud in the final hard drill before the season opener Saturday against the Colorado State Teachers' College. Today only a light drill will be taken to round out the men and get them on their feet for the inaugural tilt.

LINCOLN, Neb.—After the final workout of his Cornhuskers prior to the Drake University game here Saturday, Coach Berg declared "we're ready."

CHICAGO.—The University of Chicago football team held a secret practice in preparation for the game with Florida tomorrow. Coach Stagg has indicated that he will use open play methods.

EVANSTON.—Northwestern was sent through its final scrimmage before the opening contest tomorrow with South Dakota. The center position, one of Coach Thistlethwaite's big worries, it appeared last night, will be filled for the opening contest by W. L. Heller, map of Bay City, Mich.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Coach Fielding Yost stressed offense and defense work on forward pass plays in a stiff workout for the Wolverines yesterday. No official lineup for the game with the Oklahoma Aggies will be announced until just before the men take the field.

COLUMBUS, O.—Indications in Coach Wilce's camp were that he will use off-tackle passes and other overhead plays in Ohio's game against Wittenberg.

Dope Not Worth Much in Series, Babe Ruth Says

It's Fighting Spirit and Nerve Under Pressure That Counts, Bambino Writes.

By Babe Ruth.

(Copyright, 1926.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Comparing clubs in a world's series is not such an easy job. They talk about a law of averages to govern such things, but they don't always work. According to averages the pitcher with a .567 pitching average should win two games and then lose one.

And the chap who is hitting for a mark of .323 ought to get one hit every three times he goes to the plate. But it doesn't work out. That is why I get a laugh out of these long expert stories and talk about hitting averages and fielding averages and all that sort of thing. They sound pretty but they don't mean anything.

This will be my seventh world series—more I guess than any other player has ever been in. And out of these seven series I've learned just one thing: It's fighting spirit and nerve under fire that counts—and averages be "durned."

The guy who hits .350 in the season is apt to go through a world series with a mark of .507. And the chap who pounded the ball at a .190 clip during the season may suddenly hit his stride and play his head off in the series.

Take Everett Scott, for instance. Scotty always hit better in the world series than he ever did in the regular season. And Roger Peckinpaugh, on the other hand, made more errors in seven world series games than he made in three months of regular play.

In 1922 I couldn't seem to hit the ball out of the infield and when the series was over all the newspaper boys said I was a "bust" as a "money player." Then in 1923 when no one expected me to hit—I suddenly clouted the ball and the Giants couldn't get me out.

"Dope" is Not Reliable.
You can't dope it and you can't explain it. Things just happen that way. They have in other world series in the past, and no doubt they will in this one this year.

And so, in trying to write my

FOUR TEAMS DROP OUT OF AMATEUR TOURNAMENT

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—Thomas Waterbury, Indianapolis, and the Chevrolet team of Flint, Mich., were eliminated yesterday in the tournament for the national amateur and industrial baseball championship. The Curran and Meade nine of this city suffered its first defeat at the hands of Detroit Checker Cab. The Scranton Petersburg A. C. won two games. Rain caused a postponement of all the contests scheduled in the industrial division. The results:
Detroit Checker Cab 4; Curran and Meade, Philadelphia 2.
Akron Police 2; Waterbury Sacred Heart 1 (11 innings).

dope on the series I'm steering away from all those statistical things like batting averages and fielding average and runs driven in and that sort of stuff.

I figure this way: Any two teams that are good enough to win pennants in the two leagues are bound to be pretty evenly matched. This stuff of saying one team or the other can't hit "for hasn't good pitching, or is weak in fielding is bunk. If they were very weak in any of these departments they wouldn't be up there in the world series.

The Yankees can do some things better than others. But I won't admit that we have any glaring weakness in any department. And I don't think the Cardinals have either.

The other fellows can have their batting averages and all that stuff. What I want to know is this: Have the Cardinals real fighting spirit? Can they play their best in a pinch? Are they looking upon the world series as some great event or do they consider the series as just a few more ball games?

Have they got all that big dough on their minds, or can they go out there and play ball forgetting everything about money and glory and all that?

So far as the Yankees are concerned, I know the answer. Give me the answer for the Cardinals and I can just about tell you what will happen in the series.

Tunney to Hold A Reception for Boys Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. ENE TUNNEY is going back to Philadelphia, scene of his championship victory, and in the Sequi-Centennial Stadium, where he won the title, he will hold a reception for boys and girls tomorrow.

Tunney made it plain that he is not going to advertise anything. In winning the world's heavyweight championship, he realized an ambition for which he had been striving ever since he won the A. E. F. championship in the army, he said.

"This, however, is only a beginning of what I want to do," he continued. "What I have in mind is to make the things that boxing stands for in health, strength and courage mean more to the boys of the country."

For the other semi-final the survivors were New Jersey women. Mrs. Courtland Smith of Glen Ridge, recent winner of the State championship, and Mrs. Wright D. Goss of Short Hills.

On the basis of their scores yesterday, Mrs. Goss and Mrs. Smith appeared evenly matched. Both covered the first nine holes in 43, while their incoming cards were two of the best the tournament has produced.

Mrs. Smith was home in a brilliant 39, while Mrs. Goss played eight of the homeward holes in four under five.

Mrs. Stetson has been playing consistently good golf. When she overhauled Edith Cummings of Chicago, 6 and 5, she went out in 42, as against Miss Wilson's 46 in the Collett match.

Laughed Way to Victory.
The Chicago girl, with unobbed chestnut hair, who laughed her way to victory, is the latest topper of a champion in a season that has been hard on kings and queens of sport.

Virginia Wilson, who weighs 90 pounds, won, many of the spectators thought, because she didn't care.

Everything she did, she laughed—goodness, I never saw such a girl," said Glenna. "When her ball went into a bunker she laughed and laughed. The same way when she had a bad lie in the rough. You would have thought the whole thing was a huge joke."

She Surprised Herself.
Virginia had no thought of winning at first. "I was out to give Glenna the best match I could," she said. "When I rounded the turn, with the match all square, I began to think—well, this isn't so bad—here's hopes, and I began to think about winning."

And between each laugh this care-free slim blue-eyed maiden would make amazing shots. "I was glad when Glenna put me one down at the tenth," she said, "because I always fight better from behind."

"Was I nervous? No, I can't take golf seriously enough far that. But I was all pepped up, and I did get an awfully big kick out of it."

Virginia is three years out of boarding school, one year a debutante and a devotee of many sports. Tennis has brought her several trophies, although her three years of tournament golf have won her but one—the medal and the cup of the Buffalo Invitation this year. She swims well, plays polo, and has spent summers, including the one just past, cowpunching in Wyoming.

Tributes to Glenna.
"Guess I'm just interested in having a good time," she explained. She took her victory yesterday modestly, insisting that she had been lucky.

"Gee, it was great playing with you, Glenna," Virginia remarked as the ex-champion congratulated her.

The tribute her conqueror paid Glenna was echoed by players and gallery alike. One top, or flipped turn of the game into the ranks of her golfing sisters, Glenna was described by friendly rivals as an opponent whose generosity to opponents has outweighed the will to win.

Billikens Open Tomorrow With Teachers' College

Only One Veteran on Local Squad Which Will Probably Be Outweighed.

Athletic Director Mathews of St. Louis University today announced the lineup which will open the season against Springfield Normal tomorrow afternoon at St. Louis U. field at 3 o'clock.

Only one regular member of last year's varsity, Capt. Frank Kahle, is on the squad. Four starters were substitutes last season, and the other six are sophomores.

Crecelius saw service in the backfield in 1925, but has been transferred to tackle. Stampfl, Sweeney and Jordan are the others who have a varsity background.

Jordan will direct the squad from quarterback. At left half will be either Kennedy or Buddy Kearns, probably the former. Dirnberger will start at fullback. All but Jordan are just up from the freshman squad. Although not very heavy the Billiken ball carriers are fast.

Coach Briggs of the Teachers will bring in his squad some time today and work out at the Billiken field. His team is fairly heavy and will probably outweigh St. Louis U. In addition, Briggs has recalled that the Teachers very nearly beat the locals in last season's inaugural, the game being scoreless.

and may be bought at the gate or at 921 Locust street.

Officials—Henry (Kenyon), referee; Kamp (Washington), umpire; Klein (Missouri), head linesman.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The New York State Athletic Commission, yesterday again declined to sanction a featherweight elimination tournament following a request by Phil Glassman, manager of Benny Bass, Philadelphia boxer, to find a successor to the title vacated recently by Louis (Kid) Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn.

While the commission recommended that some matchmaker arrange a set of such bouts, it refused to take the initiative as it did when Johnny Dundee turned in his featherweight crown.

NEGRO COLLEGE WILL PLAY FOOTBALL HERE

The first Negro Collegiate football game ever played in St. Louis will be the battle between the Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo., and Wilberforce University of Xenia, O., at the Stars' Park tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

The Ohio eleven arrived by motor bus last night.

Futurity Race Feature at Dog Track Tonight

Gate Receipts and Mutual Profits Will Go to Florida Hurricane Sufferers.

The Florida hurricane victims will be the beneficiaries of the program of races at the Madison Kennel Club tonight. All of the gate receipts, together with the mutual profits and dog purses will be forwarded to the relief fund as a present from the kennel club. The employees of the track will also be asked to donate a day's pay to the contribution.

The usual good card of races has been arranged. The feature race of the night, to be decided over the Futurity distance, may result in a neck-and-neck duel between Wellesley and Marshall's Ribbon. Both are highly prized imported racers. The post position favors the former, and should he repeat his recent race behind Masked Battery, Marshall's Ribbon may find him a hard customer. Bromley no doubt will go to the post with many backers. One that may bear watching in the race is Orpiment, which will be making his first start of the meeting.

Rex Cantonian failed to get in the money in his last race, but in the opinion of close observers, he deserved nothing worse than second place. He experienced a rough trip all the way, but such may not be the case tonight, for he has drawn the No. 2 box. Reigning Regent and Oratova will serve up the opposition. The dogs in this race will travel a quarter mile.

Tiger Bill is improving rapidly as a jumper and he may take the measure of Little Judge tonight. Gov. Hawke and Marcheta are two which have been knocking at the door and ought to win their respective races. Z. B. 2, Bubbling Over and Mission Boy are likely choices in the other events.

Dallas Captures Southern Title

Texas League Entry Again Wins Dixie Series; Final Game 3-2.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—Dallas won the baseball championship of the South here yesterday, chiefly because of stellar batting by "Hack" Miller, Dallas' right-fielder, who drove in enough runs to enable the Texans to gain a 3 to 2 decision over the New Orleans Pelicans in the sixth decision game of the Dixie series.

Miller's home run with two out and Morse on second in the first inning gave the Texas Leaguers the lead.

The victory of Dallas gave the Texas League its sixth championship in seven post-season clashes with the Southern Association. Dallas . . . 2 0 0 0 0 1 0—3

PILSUDSKI ACCEPTS

POLISH PREMIERSHIP

Cabinet, in Which He Held Portfolio, Resigned When Beaten in Budget.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WARSAW, Oct. 1.—The unexpected happened here when the Bartel Government resigned last night after the Diet had rejected its budget by a vote of 236 to 90. The Bartel Government is that which Marshal Pilsudski set up, taking the post of Minister of War, after he seized control of the Government last May. Pilsudski today accepted the premiership.

The Government had been expected to dissolve the Diet and continue as a virtual dictatorship for at least three months preceding election.

But more unexpected than the resignation was the visit of the American Minister, John P. Stetson Jr., and French Ambassador Larouche to Premier Bartel in the midst of the crisis.

The purpose of their visit and the purport of their conversations were not disclosed, but the common comment here is that the two diplomats impressed upon Bartel the bad impression that would be created abroad if the Government dissolved the Diet and carried on as unconstitutional dictators.

Well-informed circles here, while expressing surprise at this apparent foreign intervention in a Polish crisis, admit that France's treaty relations with Poland and America's financial interest in the country through recent investments might account for such action.

All the Polish press is filled with alarmist comments regarding the new Russo-Lithuanian treaty, which the papers say was timed to take advantage of Poland's internal troubles.

Former Finance Minister Beaten by Officers.

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 1.—A dozen uniformed officers invaded the apartment of former Finance Minister Zdzichowski today, beat him about the head with the butts of their revolvers and otherwise ill-treated him.

The assailants, who got away unmolested, are believed to have been incensed over a speech delivered in the Diet by Zdzichowski criticizing the budget.

EXPEDITION LEAVES FRANCE

TO EXPLORE IN ABYSSINIA

Chicagoan Heads Party Which Seeks Specimens for Field Museum.

MARSEILLES.—A notable scientific and sporting adventure began here when the steamer Chambord slipped down to sea carrying five members of an expedition with 5000 pounds of scientific equipment, bound to unexplored parts of Abyssinia.

Wilfred H. Usgood of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, who is heading the expedition, told the correspondent: "We have been sent to procure certain rare mammals, birds and reptiles. We estimate it will take us six months, but we will remain until the work is finished, maybe in eight months."

"The Nyala, or Queen of Sheba's antelope is the main object of our quest, but we also are seeking a gallada baboon, an Abyssinian ibex, a reticulated giraffe, a pigmy goose and a black-maned lion. We have the best possible outfit and a good personnel. I cannot see anything ahead but complete success."

Marseilles crowds became enthusiastic when the nature of the expedition became known. The manager of the local museum commented:

"It is entirely fitting that this expedition should sail from Marseilles, departure point of the ancient crusaders. This expedition is a modern crusade in the interests of science."

HEEDS GERMAN FILM PROTEST

Will H. Hays Agrees to Delete "Four Horsemen of Apocalypse."

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—All scenes depicting the Germans as cruel and barbarous in the film "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" will be eliminated, Dr. Gustav Heuser, acting German Consul General, was informed yesterday in a letter from Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Dr. Heuser had protested to Hays against the picture as being anti-German. Reports from Berlin indicated he said that feeling in Germany over some of the scenes was strong. Producers here believe that continued showing of the film in its original form might strengthen the German producers' campaign against American film productions.

BLIND MAN'S STORE ROBBED

Third Visit of Burglars. However, Ends in Arrest of Boys.

Patrolman Baldwin of Newstead Avenue District saw four boys with packages under their arms at Taylor avenue and the Wabash railroad tracks at 8:30 p. m. yesterday. When he called to them to halt they dropped the packages and ran.

Baldwin fired three shots in the air and one of the boys, 14 years old, stopped. He gave the names of his companions and two of them were arrested. The other is being sought. The boys admitted the packages which contained radio accessories, cigarettes and candy had been taken from the confectionery store of Thomas Dee, 402 South Euclid avenue, a blind man, whose store has been robbed three times in the last month.

F. L. SMITH CONDEMNED IN

METHODIST COMMITTEE REPORT

FREEPORT, Ill., Oct. 1.—The candidacy of Frank L. Smith, Republican nominee for the United States Senate, condemned in the report of the Public Policy Committee of the Rock River Methodist conference yesterday because of his "passive attitude" toward prohibition, found several champions who sought to enlist the endorsement of the conference for him. The Rev. Kirk W. Robins of Evanston and the Rev. John Williams of Chicago were among those advocating a resolution favoring Smith.

"I'll hold my nose and vote for Smith," Williams declared in referring to possible objections to slush fund revelations which might be raised by his colleagues. All delegates joined in a denunciation of George E. Brennan, Democratic wet candidate.

Discussing a resolution condemning pastors who undertook police work, the Rev. A. M. Penny of Chicago said he could not reconcile Christian principles with the action of a Methodist preacher donning pink whiskers and gun in order to spread gospel of Christ.

"Snooping around road houses and houses of questionable reputation in such disguise," he said, "was hardly one of the duties of an exponent of the Christian religion."

LOSS THROUGH AUTO THEFTS

PUT AT $60,000,000 FOR 1925

Value of Cars Stolen Estimated at $300,000,000, of Which 20 Per Cent Was Recovered. NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Motorists lost $60,000,000 last year through the theft of automobiles, and the present situation is an "open challenge on the part of the underworld to the insurance companies," Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce said, in addressing the Brooklyn Rotary Club. He said that insurance rates are too high, and advocated a central detection bureau for catching automobile thieves. The total thefts of automobiles last year, he pointed out, was $300,000,000, of which 20 per cent was never recovered.

1000 Claim a Jones Estate. MANCHESTER, England, Oct. 1.—More than a thousand Joneses from all parts of the world are trying to establish their rights to a share in the estate of Miss Clara Alice Jones, who died here in seeming poverty but left an estate estimated to be worth about $200,000. Second cousins are entitled under the new law of intestacy to share in an estate, and the Deputy Chancellor is having difficulty in running down the real second cousins among the numerous claimants.

TERMS OF M. E. MINISTERS

LENGTHENING, RECORD SHOWS

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Moving days in the Methodist Episcopal ministry from the annual shake-up of pastors are growing fewer and the length of service for pastors at the same church is increasing, the new Methodist Year Book shows. Now there are 123 pastors who have served the same church continuously for 10 to 30 years.

The Rev. E. J. Helms, Morgan Memorial Church, Boston, has the record in the Methodist Church for continuous service, 31 years. Ministers in the Eastern conferences lead in length of pastorate, the New York East area having 15 with service records of more than 10 years. Philadelphia conference has 10. New York six, Chicago seven, Washington five and New England four.

Two Men Fall 1500 Feet. Live. LUSCAR, Alberta, Oct. 1.—Thrown 1500 feet down a mountainside and over a cliff when caught in a snowslide, M. Kearns, Seattle merchant, and Tex Byers, local guide, are alive to tell the tale. Kearns suffered a broken arm, cuts and minor injuries. Byers was not injured. With E.

Hahn of Seattle and another guide, Kearns was on a wild sheep hunting expedition. Kearns and Byers had become separated from their friends when the snowslide swept them down. Kearns was transported for 43 miles over rough mountain trails by Byers before he could receive proper medical attention.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query, personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be returned, except letters on medical questions of undoubted character when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

H. F.—We do not find the town of Addis, La., listed in Ayers' Newspaper Directory. Write to the postmaster of the town for the information. We do not know just what you mean by white spots on the liver and therefore can not offer any suggestions for relief.

E. H. Y.—You can change your name by an order obtained from the Circuit Court. In some states registration under a false name in a hotel is a criminal offense. William Bradford was chosen as the second Governor of Massachusetts in April, 1621, by the Plymouth settlers. John Endicott was the second Governor of Massachusetts when he was chosen in April, 1629, under the first charter of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

MR. STORM.—Cyclones are winds which circulate around a center of low barometric pressure just at the earth's surface. The winds blow spirally inward and are usually accompanied by cloudy weather and rain or snow. A hurricane is a gale of extreme violence with the wind often reaching a speed of 80 to 100 or more miles an hour. The wind changes directions fitfully and is usually accompanied by some rain, thunder and sometimes lightning. The wind of a tornado has a rotary length of time for a couple to be separated before procuring a divorce in Missouri. If the husband is granted the divorce he will not have to pay alimony. If the wife gets the decree he will have to pay alimony if he is not so ordered. The decree can be obtained in about a month if the suit is not contested and the defendant enters an appearance. Marriage can take place immediately after the decree is granted, but it is best to wait until the end of the term of the court that granted the decree. The wife can ask the court to increase the amount of alimony at any time if the decree provides it for her originally. The first wife cannot sue the man's second wife in any way.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

READER.—Aliens are not allowed to purchase land in Missouri legally.

WAITING.—There is no specific length of time for a couple to be separated before procuring a divorce in Missouri. If the husband is granted the divorce he will not have to pay alimony. MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

READER OF P. D.—Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and we will send you the names of physicians who will treat your face for the removal of wrinkles and blemishes. Repeat your question.

P. D. READER.—Discontinue the use of milk in the baby's diet for a while and use barley water, meat extracts and light broths until the condition is relieved. Gradually regulate the quantity of milk to the baby's capacity to retain it when you start giving it to her again.

J. L.—We advise another Wasserman blood test to see if you have been really cured of the disease. The sore lip may be the result of recent or old infection. The test furthermore would determine the propriety of marriage for you. The clinic in Room 35, Municipal Courts Building, will give you the test free of charge.

Expedition to Explore Antarctic Backed By Government: Expect to Start Nov. 15.

By the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1.—Under the auspices of the Argentine Geographical Institute and backed financially by the Argentine Government, an expedition is being organized to explore the Antarctic and South polar regions. Antonio Pauly, engineer, will head the party.

The expedition will start Nov. 15, going first to Ushuaia territory of Argentina. From there the party will proceed aboard a whaler to Graham Land, where a base will be established. From Graham, land flights will be made to the Weddell Sea. When the weather permits a flight to the South Pole will be attempted so as to explore 1750 miles of unknown territory. An attempt also will be made to find documents and other things left near the pole by Capt. Robert F. Scott, the British explorer, who perished with four members of his

Still more STAYING POWER!

NOW a new type of construction gives Ray-O-Vac radio batteries, already famous for their extraordinary staying power, from 10% to 15% still longer life.

In the new Ray-O-Vac batteries no hot pitch is used, so excessive heat has not devitalized the cells... and there are no bulging tops... no cracked seals or broken connections... no internal short circuits... no needless weight. At the same time the life of the battery is increased still more!

And the new Ray-O-Vacs insure better reception than is possible with other "B" power units because they have only from one-third to one-sixth as much internal resistance.

You can buy Ray-O-Vac batteries at the better radio and electrical dealers, hardware and music stores, department stores and auto supply shops everywhere.

FRENCH BATTERY COMPANY MADISON, WISCONSIN Also makers of flashlights and batteries and ignition batteries

Section through old-style construction. Solid pitch fills spaces between cells, allowing no room for expansion of the electrolyte. Short circuits usually result.

In Ray-O-Vac batteries each cell is in a square container, with water-proof, acid-proof, corrosion-resistant, and non-conducting material between cells. Expanding electrolyte cannot contact with other cells because the corners of the square compartment allow it room for expansion.

are relieved of a great hy- gemic handicap in this way. Positive protection—discards like tissue

HERE is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scien- and exquisite that ends the un- nity of old-time "sanitary pads." is called "KOTEX." Eight in y 10 better-class women have used it.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns about a second thought, any time, where. You meet every day, busy, business or social demand un- interrupted.

NO LAUNDRY

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embar- rassment.

Some times as absorbent as ordi- nary cotton pads, it banishes danger- ous odors, too. And thus ends the fear of offending.

You obtain it at drug or depart- ment stores simply by saying "KOTEX." Women thus ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents for a package of 12.

HOW SHALL I DO IT?

By Gladys Huntington Bevans

The Beauty of Dark Floors.

WHERE new hardwood floors are laid in a house or in an apartment the usual treatment of them is to leave the wood in its light natural tone and shellac or varnish it. This results in a floor finish which is comparatively easy to keep clean looking and quite often serves well from the beauty standpoint. I feel, nevertheless, that there are many people who, not having given the matter much thought, do not realize the richness and depth that a dark floor finish gives. Many carpets and rugs, especially Oriental ones, never have all their beauty of color and texture emphasized until they are laid on a dark floor.

People who are doing over old houses should take this fact very much to heart. In old farm houses it is sometimes possible without great labor to get down to the natural wood and with the great wide boards that one often has to work on in such houses, the effect is very pleasing to those who like the atmosphere of early American severity. There are many other old houses, however, especially city houses, which do not lend themselves to this effect. For these a dark, glossy finish is a most desirable thing. One of the most successful houses I have ever done had a combination of ray lumber and varnish used on all its floors.

The following is a fairly good formula to use as a guide, though you may have to make some variation in it: For a gallon of good floor varnish use two pounds of raw umber ground in Japan. In order to make a smooth mixture, use about a pint of turpentine, in which to thin the umber as it comes from the can. When you have reduced this paste to a smooth, creamy consistency, add it slowly to the varnish, stirring in thoroughly. You may have to add more turpentine if this seems to brush on too thick. Two coats of this, with plenty of time in between for drying, will prove very satisfactory. If you like a still darker effect, add half a pound of black ground in Japan to the whole umber and varnish mixture. When bone dry rub this down with a very little floor oil and a very great deal of elbow grease.

Raspberry Rosells.

Take a quart of fresh ripe raspberries and put into a saucepan with a cupful of water and two cupfuls of sugar. Simmer gently until the berries are soft and the sauce cooked down. Have ready a good cup cake. Cut thick slices of the cake and dip them into the sauce, then cover with a slice of vanilla ice cream, top with strawberries dusted with powdered sugar and turn over a little more sauce on each portion.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Danny Has an Adventure.

The careless always have to pay; They find there is no other way.

—Danny Meadow Mouse.

He turned and darted under the overhanging grass

so when he took a nap he didn't sleep as well as he might have. At night he kept on his way. He found it a lot harder traveling than he thought it would be. You see, he had no nice little paths cut through the grass. When the tide was out he found that he could run along the edge of the mudflats; but when the tide was in he had to get back on high land.

It was just after daylight the second day that Danny had his first real adventure. He had by this time become so used to things that he had grown a bit careless. In other words, he didn't look as sharply as he should to see just where he was going. So it was that he ran out from under some overhanging grass on the edge of the mudflat to discover Black-crown the Night Heron standing motionless, watching for some minnows to come within reach. Danny almost ran over one of Black-crown's toes before he saw Black-crown at all.

You should have seen Danny turn! Certainly, he never turned more quickly in his life. He turned and darted under the overhanging grass, and as he did so Black-crown saw him from the corner of his eye. Like a flash Black-crown turned and drove that long bill of his into that grass. He just missed Danny. If Danny hadn't happened to turn just as Black-crown did that bill wouldn't have missed him. Danny squealed with fright and darted along under the grass. Black-crown followed, driving that long bill of his into the grass every time he saw it move. Why he didn't catch Danny, Danny doesn't know to this day. At last Danny found an old hole of a Muskrat in the bank. Danny darted in. How he did hope that there was nobody at home. He went only far enough to get out of sight of Black-crown the Night Heron. Then he sat down to get his breath. "My!" exclaimed Danny, "that was a close call. But it served me right for not using my eyes better."

—the most widely used of all recipes

What an avalanche of new recipes there is to choose from today! Literally thousands to try out every week, if you wish! And yet today this single old-time recipe has pleased more women than any other ever recorded.

Down on the plantation, as we all know, Aunt Jimima refused to tell a soul how she mixed the ingredients for her golden-brown, fragrant pancakes. Only her master and his guests could enjoy their unequalled flavor.

And today no cook book gives her recipe. You get it ready-mixed—her own ingredients just as she proportioned them—in Aunt Jimima Pancake Flour. Only in this way is it possible for so many millions of women to have pancakes just like Aunt Jimima's own, always tender and fluffy, with that plantation flavor which has made her famous. It is so quick and easy today: Just add a cup of milk (or water) to every cup of Aunt Jimima Pancake Flour—and stir! Notice how your family brighten up when they first taste Aunt Jimima's cakes with that matchless flavor. Plan now to test her recipe. Your grocer has Aunt Jimima Pancake Flour and her Prepared Buckwheat Flour. Coupons for valuable premiums come in every Aunt Jimima package.

ODD FACTS

Profiteering is to be dealt with sternly in Budapest, where big restaurants must provide a quarter dinner for customers if requested. The menus of these meals will be approved by the police.

Canaries should be kept in wooden cages with only a wire front, according to an expert, who says that the usual ornamental cage is too unprotected against cold and drafts.

Surely half the world must be blind; they can see nothing unless it glitters.—Hare.

Lying is like trying to hide in a fog. If you move about you are in danger of bumping your head against the truth. And as soon as the fog blows away you are gone anyhow.—Hazlitt.

WONDER WHAT A NEW CAR THINKS OF A NEW DRIVER?

—By BRIGGS

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Davis

LYRICS BY LIMERIC LUKE.

THERE was an old man from St. Louis,
Who had seen many pennants go blooie;
But he burst into cheers
After thirty-eight years,
When the jinx had been chopped to chop suey.

TRIOLET.

THE Cards have won the National flag,
No matter now the weather!
There's naught can make our spirits lag,
The Cards have won the National flag,
We see their name on sign and tag,
We loudly shout together,
"The Cards have won the National flag,
No matter now the weather!"
—RUTH M. DOUGHERTY.

A MATTER OF DETAIL.

The army announces that it has saved $10,000 by cutting the tails off 6000 white butchers' coats to make new jackets for army cooks and bakers. That's one way to curtail expenses.

AN UNVEILED PROPHECY.

Dear Sir: I wish to call your attention to a statement made in your column which you may have forgotten: "If the race for the American League pennant is very close it looks as if the team that plays the Browns last will get it." This appeared in your column during the early part of the baseball season. Now can you tell us who will win the pennant next year? And who did you bet on in the Dempsey-Tunney battle?

—A GRANITE CITY BROWNIE ROOTER.

YEA, bo, indeed we can and will. But you will have to wait until the harbingers of spring. Have come upon the festive scene, And everything is fresh and green, And all that sort of thing.

The man on the sandbox says in your enthusiasm over the Red Birds, don't forget the Red Cross and Florida.

Uncle Sam might effect a further saving by shaving another inch or two off the shavetails at West Point.

It has been several days since anybody has swum the English Channel. What's the matter, has the old swimmin' hole been closed for the season?
